THE "HABEAS CORPUS."

☞ This tale is a sequel to "The Contested Marriage," published in the Sentinel a few weeks ago. Some of the characters introduced. it will be noticed, are the same.

In the month of February of the year following that which witnessed the successful establishment of the claim of Sir Harry Compton's infant son to his magnificent patrimony, Mr. Samuel Ferret was travelling post with all the speed he could command towards Lancashire, in compliance with a summons from Lady Compton, requesting, in urgent terms, his immediate presence at the castle. It was wild and bitter weather, and the roads were in many places rendered dangerous, and almost impassible, by the drifting snow. Mr. Ferret, however, pressed onwards with his habitual energy and perseverance; and in spite of all elemental and post-boy opposition, succeeded in accomplishing his journey in much less time than, under the circumstances, could have been reasonably expected. But swiftly as, for these slow times, he pushed on, it is necessary I should anticipate, by a brief period his arrival at his destination, in order to put the reader in possession of the circumstances which had occasioned the hurried and pressing message he had received.

Two days before, as Lady Compton and her sister, who had been paying a visit to Mrs. Allington at the Grange, were returning home towards nine o'clock in the evening, they observed, as the carriage turned a sharp angle of the road leading through Compton Park, a considerable number of lighted lanterns, by persons apparently in eager but bewildered pursuit of some missing object. The carriage was stopped, and in answer to the servant's inquiries, it was replied that Major Brandon's crazy niece had escaped from her uncle's house; and although traced by the snow-tracks as far as the entrance to the park, had not yet been recovered. Mrs. Brandon had offered a reward of ten pounds to whoever should secure and reconduct her home; hence the hot pursuit of the fugitive, who, it was now supposed, must be concealed in the shrubberies. Rumors regarding this unfortunate young lady, by no means favorable to the character of her relatives as persons of humanity, had previously reached Lady Compton's ears; and she determined to avail herself, if possible, of the present opportunity to obtain a personal interview with the real or supposed lunatic.—The men who had been questioned were informed that only the castle servants could be allowed to search for the missing person, either in the park or shrubberies; and that if there she would be taken care of, and restored to her friends in the morning. The coachman was then ordered to drive on; but the wheels had not made a dozen revolutions, when a loud shout at some distance, in the direction of the park, followed by a succession of piercing screams, announced the discovery and capture of the object at the chase. The horses were urged rapidly forward; and ere more than a minute had elapsed, the carriage drew up within a few yards of the hunted girl and her captors. The instant it stopped, Clara Brandon, liberating herself by a frenzied effort from the rude grasp in which she was held by an athletic young man, sprang wildly towards it, and with passionate entreaty implored mercy and protection. The young man, a son of Mrs. Brandon's by a former husband, immediately re seized her; and with fierce violence endeavored to wrench her hand from the handle of the carriage door, which she clutched with desperate tenacity. The door flew open, the sudden jerk disengaged her hold, and she struggled vainly in her captor's powerful grasp.

'Save me! save me!' she frantically exclaimed, as she felt herself borne off. 'You who are, they say, as kind and good as you are beautiful and happy, save me from this cruel man!'

Lady Compton, inexpressibly shocked by the piteous spectacle presented by the unhappy girl—her scanty clothing soiled, disarrayed, and torn by the violence of her struggles; her long flaxen tresses flowing disorderly over her face and neck in tangled dishevelment;—and the pale, haggard wild expression of her countenance—was for a few moments incapable of speech. Her sister was more collected; 'Violet,' she instantly remonstrated, 'do not permit this brutal violence.'

'What right has she or any one to interfere with us?' demanded the young man savagely. 'This girl is Major Brandon's ward, as well as neice, and shall return to her lawful home! Stand back,' continued he, addressing the servants. who at a gesture from Miss Dalston barred his progress. 'Withstand me at your peril!'

'Force her from him,' exclaimed Lady Compton, recovering her voice. 'Gently! gently! I will be answerable for her safe custody till the morning.'

The athletic fellow struggled desperately; but however powerful and determined, he was only one man against a score, nearly all the bystanders being tenants or laborers on the Compton estates; and spite of his furious efforts, the menaces of law and vengeance, Clara was torn from him in a twinkling, and himself hurled with some violence prostrate on the road. 'Do not let them hurt the man,' said Lady Compton, as the servants placed the insensible girl in the carriage, (she had fainted;) 'and tell him if he has really any legal claim to the custody of this unfortunate person, he must prefer it in the morning.'

Immediately on arrival at the castle, the escaped prisoner was conveyed to bed and medical aid instantly summoned. When restored to consciousness, whether from the effect of an access of fever producing temporary delirium, or from confirmed mental disease, her speech was altogether wild and incoherent—the only at all consistent portions of her ravings being piteously iterated appeals to Lady Compton not to surrender her to her aunt-in-law, Mrs. Brandon, of whom she seemed to entertain an overpowering, indefinable dread. It was evident she had been subjected to extremely brutal treatment—such as. in these days of improved legislation in such matters, and greatly advanced knowledge of the origin and remedy of cerebral infirmity, would not be permitted towards the meanest human being, much less a tenderly-nurtured, delicate female. At length, under the influence of a composing draught, she sank gradually to sleep; and Lady Compton having determined to rescue her, if possible, from the suspicious custody of her relatives, and naturally apprehensive of the legal difficulties which she could not doubt would impede the execution of her generous, if not somewhat Quixotic project, resolved on at once sending off an express for Mr. Ferret, on whose acumen and zeal she knew she could place the fullest reliance.

Clara Brandon's simple history may be briefly summed up. She was the only child of Mr. Frederick Brandon, who, a widower in the second year of his marriage, had since principally resided at the 'Elms.' a handsome mansion and grounds which he had leased of the uncle of the late Sir Harry Compton. At his decease, which occurred about two years previous to poor Clara's escape from confinement, as just narrated, he bequeathed his entire fortune, between two and three thousand pounds per annum, chiefly secured on land, to his daughter; appointed his elder brother. Major Brandon, sole executor of his will, and guardian of his child; and in the event of her dying before she had attained her majority—of which she wanted, at her father's death, upwards of three years—or without lawful issue, the property was to go to the major, to be by him willed at his pleasure. Major Brandon, whose physical and mental energies had been prematurely broken down—he was only in his fifty-second year—either by excess of hard service in the east, perhaps both, had married late in life the widow of a brother officer, and the mother of a grown-up son.—The lady, a woman of inflexible will, considerable remains of a somewhat masculine beauty, and about ten years her husband's junior, held him in a state of thorough pupilage; and unchecked by him, devoted all her energies to bring about, by fair or foul means, a union between Clara and her own son, a cub of some two or three-and-twenty years of age, whose sole object in seconding his mothers views upon Clara was the acquisition of wealth. According to popular surmise and report, the young lady's mental infirmity had been bro't about by the persecutions she had endured at the hands of Mrs. Brandon, with a view to force her into a marriage she detested. The most reliable authority for the truth of these rumors was Susan Hepley, now in the service of Lady Compton, but who had lived for many years with Mr. Frederick Brandon and his daughter. She had been discharged about six months after her master's decease, by Mrs. Major Brandon, for alleged impertinence; and so thoroughly convinced was Susan that the soon afterwards alleged lunacy of Clara was but a juggling pretence to excuse the restraint under which her aunt in-law, for the furtherance of her own vile purpose, had determined to keep her, that although out of place at the time, she devoted all the savings of her life, between eighty and ninety pounds, to procure 'justice' for the ill-used orphan. This article, Susan was advised, could be best obtained of the lord chancellor; and proceedings were accordingly taken before the keeper of the king's conscience, in order to change the custody of the pretended lunatic. The affidavits filed in support of the petition, were, however, so loose and vague, and were met with such positive counter-allegations, that the application was at once dismissed with costs; and poor Susan—rash suitor for 'justice'—reduced to absolute penury. These circumstances becoming known to Lady Compton, Susan was taken into her service; and it was principally owing to her frequently iterated version of the affair that Clara had been forcibly rescued from Mrs. Brandon's son.

On the following morning the patient was much calmer, though her mind still wandered somewhat. Fortified by the authority of the physician, who certified that to remove her, or even to expose her to agitation, would be dangerous, if not fatal, Lady Compton not only refused to deliver her up to Major and Mrs. Brandon, nor to allow them to see her. Mrs. Brandon, in a towering rage, posted off to the nearest magistrate to demand the assistance of peace officers in obtaining possession of the person of the fugitive. The functionary would, however, only so far comply with the indignant lady's solicitations, as to send his clerk to the castle to ascertain the reason of the young lady's detention; and when his messenger returned with a note, enclosing a copy of the physician's certificate, he peremptorily decided that the conduct of Lady Compton was not only perfectly justifiable, but praiseworthy, and that the matter must remain over till the patient was in a condition to be moved. Things were precisely in this state, except that Clara Brandon had become perfectly rational; and but for an irrepressible nervous dread of again falling into the power of her unscrupulous relative, quite calm, when Mr. Samuel Ferret made his wished for appearance on the scene of action.

Long and anxious was the conference which Mr. Ferret held with his munificent client and her interesting protegee, if conference that may be called in which the astute attorney enacted the part of listener only, scarcely opening his thin, cautious lips. In vain did his eager brain silently ransack the whole armory of the law; no weapon could he discern which afforded the slightest hope of fighting a successful battle with a legally appointed guardian for the custody of his ward. And yet Mr. Ferret felt, as he looked upon the flashing eye and glowing countenance of Lady Compton, as she recounted a few of the grievous outrages inflicted upon the fair and helpless girl reclining beside her—whose varying cheek and meek and suffused eyes bore eloquent testimony to the truth of the relation—that he would willingly exert a vigor even beyond the law to meet his client's wishes, could he but see the road to a safe result. At length a ray of light, judging from his suddenly gleaming eyes, seemed to have broken upon the chambers of his brain, and he rose somewhat hastily from his chair.

'By the by, I will just step and speak to this Susan Heply, if your ladyship can inform me in what part of the lower regions I am likely to meet with her.'

'Let me ring for her.'

'No; if you please not. What I have to ask is of very little importance; still to summon her here might give rise to surmises, reports and so on, which it may be as well to avoid. I had much rather see her accidentally, as it were.'

'As you please. You will find her somewhere about the housekeeper's appartments. You know her by sight, I think.'

'Perfectly; and with your leave I'll take the opportunity of directing the horses to be put to the carriage. I must be in London by noon to-morrow if possible;' and away Ferret bustled.

'Susan,' said Mr. Ferret a few minutes afterwards. 'step this way; I want to have a word with you. Now, tell me, are you goose enough to expect you will ever see the money again you so foolishly threw into the bottomless pit of chancery?'

'Of course I shall, Mr. Ferret. as soon as Miss Clara comes to her own. She mentioned it only this morning, and said she was sorry she could not repay me at once.'

'You're a sensible girl, Susan, though you did go to law with the lord chancellor! I want you to be off with me to London; and then perhaps we may get your money sooner than you expect.'

'Oh, bother the money! Is that all you want me to go to London for?'

Mr. Ferret replied with a wink of such exceeding intelligence, that Susan at once declared she would be ready to start in ten minutes at the latest.

'That's a good creature; and Susan, as there's not the slightest occasion to let all the world know who's going to run off with you, it may be as well for you to take your bundle and step on a mile or so on the road, say to the turn, just beyond the first turnpike.' Susan nodded with brisk good humor, and disappeared in a twinkling.

An hour afterwards, Mr. Ferret was on his way back to London, having first impressed upon Lady Compton the necessity of immediately relieving herself of the grave responsibility she had incurred towards Major Brandon for the safe custody of his ward by sending her home immediately. He promised to return on the third day from his departure; but on the nature of the measures he intended to adopt, or the hopes he entertained of success. he was inflexibly silent; and he moreover, especially requested that no one, not even Miss Brandon, should know of Susan Hoply's journey to the metropolis.

Mr. Ferret, immediately on his arrival in town, called at my chambers, and related with his usual minutes and precision as many of the foregoing particulars as he knew and thought proper to communicate to me. For the rest I am indebted to subsequent conversation with the different parties concerned.'

'Well,' said I as soon as he had concluded, 'what course do you propose to adopt?'

'I wish you to apply on this affidavit, for a writ of habeas ad sub.. to bring up the body of Clara Brandon. Judge Bailey will be at Chambers at three o'clock; it is now more than half-past two, and I can be off on my return by four at least.'

'A writ of habeas!' I exclaimed with astonishment. 'Why, what end will that answer? The lady will be remanded, and you and I shall be laughed at for our pains'

This writ of habeas corpus 'ad subjicendum.' I had better explain to the non-professional reader, is the great prerogative writ, the operation of which is sometimes suspended by the legislature during political panics. It is grounded on the principle that the sovereign has at all times a right to inquire, through the judges of the superior courts, by what authority his or her subject is held in constraint. It issues, as a matter of right upon the filing of an avidavit, avering that to the best of the belief of the deponent the individual sought to be brought up is illegally confined; and it is the essence of the proceeding, that the person alleged to be suffering unlawful constraint should actually be brought before the 'queen herself;" that is, before one or more of the judges of the court which has issued the writ, who, if they find the detention illegal, the only question at issue upon this writ, may discharge or bail the party. It was quite obvious, therefore, that in this case such a proceeding would be altogether futile, as the detention in the house of her guardian, under the sanction, too, of the lord chancellor, the ex officio custodier of all lunatics—of a ward of alleged disordered intellect—was clearly legal, at least prima facie so, and not be disturbed under habeas ad sub., at all events.

'Perhaps so,' replied Ferret quite coolly in reply to my exclamation; 'but I determined to try every means of releasing the unfortunate young lady from the cruel thraldom in which she is held by that harridan of an aunt-in-law, She is no more really insane than you are; but at the same time so exciteable on certain topics, that it might be perhaps difficult to disabuse the chancellor or a jury of the impression so industriously propagated to her prejudice. The peremptory rejection by her guardian of young Buford's address, though sanctioned by her father; you know the Bufords?'

'Of Grosvenor Street you mean—the East India director?'

'Yes, his son; and that reminds me that the declaration in that ever-lasting exchequer case must be filed to-morrow. Confound it, how this flying about the country put me out! I thought some one had kidnapped her son, or fired Compton Castle at least. By the way, I am much deceived if there isn't a wedding there before long.'

'Indeed!'

'Yes, Miss Dalston with Sir Jasper's eldest hope.'

'You don't mean it!'

'They do at all events. and that is much more to the purpose. A fine young fellow enough, and sufficiently rich too.'

'All which rambling talk and anecdote,' cried I interrupting him, 'means, if I have any skill in reading, Mr. Ferret, that that gentleman having some ulterior purpose in view, which I cannot for the moment divine, is determined to have this writ, and does not wish to be pestered with any argument on the subject. Be it so; it is your affair, not mine. And now, as it is just upon three o'clock, let me see your affidavit.'

I ran it over. 'Rather loose this, Mr. Ferret, but I suppose it will do.'

'Well, it is rather loose, but I could not with safety sail much closer to the wind. By the by, I think you had better first apply for a rule to state proceedings against the bail in that case of Turner; and after that is decided, just ask for this writ, off-hand as it were, and as a matter of course. His lordship may not then scrutinize the affidavit quite so closely as if he had thought counsel had been brought to chambers purposely to apply for it.'

'Cautious, Mr. Ferret! Well, come along, and I'll see what I can do.'

The writ was obtained without difficulty; few questions were asked; and at my request the judge made it returnable immediately.—By four o'clock, Mr. Ferret, who could fortunately sleep as well in a postchaise as in a feather bed, was, as he had promised himself, on his road to Lancashire, where he had the pleasure of serving Mr. Brandon personally; at the same time tendering in due form the one shilling per mile fixed by the statute as preliminary traveling charges. The vituperative eloquence showered upon Mr. Ferret by the major's lady was, I afterwards heard extremely copious and varied, and was borne by him, as I could easily believe, with the most philosophic composure.

In due time the parties appeared before Mr. Justice Bailey. Miss Brandon was accompanied by her uncle, his wife, and a solicitor; and in spite of everything I could urge, the judge, as I had foreseen, refused to interfere in the matter. The poor girl was dreadfully agitated, but kept, nevertheless, her eyes upon Mr. Ferret, as the source from which, spite of what was passing around, effectual succor was sure to come. As for that gentleman himself, he appeared composedly indifferent to the proceedings; and, indeed, I thought seemed rather relieved than otherwise when they terminated. I could not comprehend him. Mrs. Brandon, the instant the case was decided, clutched Clara's arm within hers, and followed by her husband and the solicitor sailed out of the apartment with an air of triumph, disdain and pride. Miss Brandon looked around for Ferret, but not perceiving him—he having left hastily an instant or two before—her face became deadly pale, and the most piteous expression of hopeless despair I ever beheld broke from her troubled but singularly expressive eyes. I mechanically followed, with a half-formed purpose of remonstrating with Major Brandon in behalf of the unfortunate girl, and was by that means soon in possession of the key to Mr. Ferret's apparent inexplicable conduct.

The Brandon party walked very fast, and I had scarcely got up with them as they were turning out of Chancery lane into Fleet street when two men, whose vocations no eye could for an instant mistake, arrested their further progress. "This lady," said one of the men, slightly, touching Miss Brandon on the shoulder, "is, I believe, Clara Brandon?"

"Yes, she is; and what of that. fellow?" demanded the major's lady, with indignant emphasis.

'Not much, ma'm," replied the sheriff's officer, "when you are used to it. It is my unpleasant duty to arrest her for the sum of eighty-seven pounds endorsed on this writ, issued at the suit of one Susan Hepley."

'Arrest her!' exclaimed Mrs. Brandon; 'why she is a minor!'

'Minor or major, ma'am, makes very little difference to us. She can plead that hereafter, you know. In the meantime, Miss, please step into this coach,,' replied the officer, holding the door open.

'But she's a person of unsound mind,' screamed the lady; as Clara, nothing loath, sprang into the vehicle.

'So are most people that do business at our establishment,' responded the imperturable official, as he shut and fastened the door. 'Here is my card, sir,' he added addressing the attorney, who came up. 'You see where to find the lady, if her friends wish to give bail to the sheriff, or, what is always more satisfactory, pay the debt and costs." He then jumped on the box, his follower got up behind, and drove the coach, leaving the discomforted major and his fiery better half in a state of the blankest bewilderment.

'Why what, is the meaning of this?' at length gasped Mrs. Brandon, fiercely addressing the attorney. as if he were a particeps criminis in the affair.

'The meaning my dear madam, is, that Miss Clara Brandon is arrested for debt, and carried off to a sponging house; and that unless you pay the money, or file bail, she will to-morrow be lodged in jail,' replied the unmoved man of law.

'Bail! money! how are we to do either in London, away from home?' demanding the major, with, for him, much emotion.

I did not wait to hear more, but almost suffocated with laughter at the success of Ferret's audacious ruse hastened over to the Temple. I was just leaving chambers for the night—about ten o'clock I think it must have been—when Ferret, in exuberant spirits, burst into the room.

'Well, sir, what do you think now of a writ ad sub?'

'Why, I think, Mr. Ferret,' replied I, looking as serious as I could, 'that yours is very sharp practice; that the purpose you have put it to is an abuse of the writ; that the arrest is consequently ilegal; and that a judge would, upon motion, quash it with costs.'

'To be sure he would: who doubts that? Let him and welcome! In the meantime Clara Brandon is safe beyond the reach of all the judges and chancellors that ever wore horse hair, and that everlasting simpleton of a major and his harridan wife, roaming the metropolis like distracted creatures: and that, I take to be the real essence of the thing, whatever the big wigs may decide about the sheils.'

'I suppose the plaintiff soon discharged her debtor out of custody?'

'Without loss of time, you may be sure.—Miss Brandon, I may tell you, is with the Rev. Mr. Derwent, at Bromton. You know him: the newly married curate at St. Margaret's that was examined in that will case. He is an intelligent, high-principled man; and I have no doubt that, under his and Mrs. Derwent's care, all trace of Miss Brandon's mental infirmity will disappear long before she attains her majority next June twelve month; whilst the liberal sum per month which Lady Compton will advance, will be of great service to him.'

'That appears all very good. But are you sure you can effectually conceal the place of her retreat?'

'I have no fear; the twigs that will entangle her precious guardians in the labyrinths of a false clue are already set and limed. Before to-morrow night they will have discovered, by means of their own wonderful penetrative sagacity that Clara has been spirited over to France; and before three months are passed, the same surprising intelligence will rejoice in the discovery that she expired in a maison de santa—fine comfortable repose, in which fool's paradise I hope to have the honor of awakening them about next June twelve month, and not as at present advised, before!'

Everything, fortunately, turned out just as Mr. Ferret anticipated; and when a few months had glided by, Clara Brandon was a memory only, save of course to the few who were entrusted with the secret.

The whirligig of time continued as ever to speed on its course and bring round in due season its destined revenges. The health mentally and bodily of Miss Brandon rapidly improved under the kind and judicious treatment of Mr. and Mrs. Derwent; and long before the attainment of her majority, were pronounced by competent authority to be thoroughly reestablished. The day fallowing that which completed her twenty-first year, Mr. Ferret, armed with the necessary authority. had the pleasure of announcing to the relic of Maj. Brandon (he had been dead some months,) and to her brutal son, that they must forthwith depart from the home in which they, to the very moment of this announcement, tho't themselves secure; and surrender every shilling of the property they had so long dreamt was their own. They were prostrated by the intelligence, and proved as mean and servile in the hour of adversity, as they had been impudent and cruel in the day of fancied success and prosperity. The pension of three hundred pounds a year for both their lives, proffered by Miss Brandon, was eagerly accepted; and unreturned to the security from which they had by accident emerged.

About six months afterwards, I had the pleasure of drawing up the marriage settlements between Clara Brandon and Herbert Buford; and a twelve month afterward, that of standing sponsor to one of the lustiest brats ever sprinkled at a fount, none of which delightful results, if we are to believe Mr. Ferret, would have ever been arrived at had not he, at a very critical moment refused to take counsel's opinion upon the virtues, capabilities, and powers contained in the great writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum.

☞ Since the removal of the faithful postmasters and their assistants, in the large eastern offices, and the appointment of inexperienced and unqualified persons in their stead, the receipt of our eastern papers has been very irregular. The Baltimore papers, which formerly came regularly, now arrive one, two, three, and even four days after they are due. So of the New York papers. Where the blame for this delinquency should be laid, we know not, but if the Postmaster General and his newly appointed agents, were to devote less time to the work of chopping off the heads of faithful subordinates, and more to the legitimate business of their offices, it would doubtless be of great benefit to the public, if not to the hungry cormorants for office—New Albany Democrat.

☞ We see similar complaints in almost all our exchanges; and that they are well founded is abundantly proved by our own experience. The mails are more irregular and uncertain now than we have ever known them to be at this time of the year. Old Zack's honest, capable, and efficient postmasters are certainly far behind their unfortunate loco predecessors who were removed for "cause."

MISMANAGEMENT OF THE MAILS.—Complaints are made all over the country, of the irregularity of the mails. It has happened more than once since Mr. Collamer has been Postmaster, that the Southern papers have not reached us until the third or fourth day after they were due. The mails from the East are often missing. This scarcely ever occurred during former administrations. The papers every where are grumbling. The following is taken from a Taylor paper, the New York Herald, which is one of many:—Baltimore American.

MISMANAGEMENT OF THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.—We have adverted already to the numerous complaints about the mismanagement of the Post Office Department, which are made in all quarters. It appears that the department itself cries "peccavi," and confesses its delinquencies. We have received the following document, which is quite significant:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.
Appointment Office, July 23, 1849.

SIR: The editorial in your paper of the 21st has received the attention of the Post Master General, and the corrective applied, to prevent the recurrence of such errors in future. The Postmaster in this city excuses his office on the ground that the office was in much confusion, in consequence of repairs which were being made in the internal arrangements of the same.

Very respectfully, yours. &c.,
FITZ HENRY WARREN.
Second Assistant Postmaster General.

JAS. GORDON BENNET, Esq., N. Y.

* * * * * * *

This state of things can't last long. The management of the Post Office Department is in a wretched condition. We have before us a bundle of our papers of Sunday week, which was mailed for Fishkill, in this State, on that day, and was taken out of the New York post office on Wednesday last! This is one fact out of many. We have much more to say on this subject.

Is this the reform we heard so much of before the election?

From the manner our exchanges from all parts of the Union reach us, we should judge that other post offices, besides that at Washington, was "in much confusion," but no portion of the Department need "repairs" so much as the Postmaster General and his Fitz Henry Warren assistent. The one has shown himself to be utterly incompetent—the other has been proven a knave by the "documents."—Ohio Statesman.

A Touching Incident.—Another Ophelia.—We find in the St. Louis Republican, of the 28th ult., the following affecting history of some fair but unfortunate unknown, who, perhaps, has friends and relatives in her own native Germany, unapprized of her pitiful condition in a foreign land. There is something of the wildly romantic about the story, which must touch a heart of adamant:

At the quarantine ground there is a pitiable, yet curious case of insanity, and one which demands the interference of some one, for the subject of it is a female.

The person alluded to is a woman apparently about thirty years of age. She goes by the name of Catharine, and when she can be kept still long enough to say anything rational, gives her name as Catharine Weber. We have made several efforts to gather her history from her, but have always failed, possibly because we have had to use an interpreter, and she talks rapidly, and frequently incoherently. The most rational story is, that she is from Germany—has been three months in the United States—has a brother, Adam Weber, a watchmaker, who, she sometimes says left her in Cincinnati, and at others that he left her in the mountains of Pennsylvania. She says that Mr. Angelrodt knows her family and connexions, and that she has relatives living either in Potosi or Mine La Motte, but it is difficult, from her incoherent manner to determine which place. She is entirely destitute, and provision should be made for her.

She is a harmless creature, and might be said to be more idiotic than crazy. She roams over all the ground, visiting every bed, especially the sick, and seems to have a very correct idea of those who are going to die. A few minutes before death occurs, she is there, stands by them, and when they die, she is very officious in closing their eyes, laying their bodies out, and fixing their limbs in proper position. This done, she goes out, and from the shrubs she weaves a wreathe, which she insists upon being placed on the corpse. She sees it placed in the coffin, and is particularly captious and nice to see that the lid is fitted down right; then follows to the grave as chief mourner. At the grave, she has another wreathe to lay on the coffin; this deposited, (and the men all yield to her fancies,) she waits until the grave is filled, and then for full half an hour she stands on or by the grave chaunting hymns and songs. She sings with a good, clear voice. She is up nearly all hours of the night and day; and whenever a boat arrives or departs, she stands upon the river bank chaunting her songs. She is mostly always engaged in some work, either sweeping the ground or making tea or something for the sick.

A melancholy Story.—On the 14th ult., Mrs. Barnett, of Prairieville, Missouri, sat out, in company with her neice and nephew. to visit the daughter of a friend who was ill. After traveling about two miles they discovered a cloud rising, and determined to stop at the house of an acquaintance, near by, until the cloud should pass over. But at that moment a young man rode up and informed them that the young lady was not expected to live through the ensuing night. This determined Mrs. Barnett to go on with him, leaving her neice and nephew to follow on after the storm which was fast approaching. Immediately after the rain had ceased, which was about an hour from the time of their stopping, the neice and nephew resumed their journey, and in about a mile they came upon the dead bodies of their aunt and the young man, Mr. George Wells, together with their horses lying by the road side, all having been killed by lightning. The screams of the young lady brought to the scene of death several neighbors, when every effort was made to resuscitate them, but in vain. Mrs. Barnett has left to mourn her loss a father, two sisters, an interesting little daughter and an affectionate husband, now on an expedition to California. The work of death did not stop here, (says the Lynchburg Virginian.) Just after dark of the same evening the sick lady referred to, Miss Maria Louisa Roberts, who but a week before was in the bloom of youth and health, bid adieu to all that was earthly.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Our city yesterday was in a state of great excitement, owing to the shocking occurrence at Princeton, N. J., on the Camden and Amboy Railroad. The train of cars which left this city at 6 A. M. yesterday, was thrown off the track, about one mile from that city, on account of the switch having been left open. We learn from a gentleman who reached the scene of the accident in the train from New York, that the spectacle was a most harrowing one. The locomotive had been thrown into the canal, bottom upwards—the baggage crates were also immersed in the water—and the first long passenger car was partly suspended over the bank of the canal, thus arresting the course of the second car—and then, dreadful to relate, the third car was raised to the platform of the second, passing completely through it—sweeping off the seats and the passengers, and thus presenting, at first sight, the appearance of but one car—killing two persons instantly in its course and terribly wounding and maiming others. The marvel is that a solitary individual escaped.—Pennsylvanian.

The Fort Wayne Sentinel.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 25, 1849.

☞ Wright's majority for Governor of Indiana is upwards of 9,700. We will publish the full official returns as soon as received.

Cholera in Fort Wayne.—The cholera has been raging with considerable severity in this city for the past week, but we are happy to be enabled to state that it appears to be subsiding, there having been few new cases yesterday or to-day.

On Sunday night last the disease assumed an epidemic form, three or four cases having occurred on what is termed "The Hill"—an elevated ridge in the south east part of the city. Several additional cases occurred on Monday and Monday night, most if not all of which proved fatal. Up to Wednesday there had been about 20 deaths, all within the space of two or three blocks. The disease, so far, has been confined almost entirely to the region where it first originated, and that is the highest, most airy, and what is usually supposed most healthy part of the city.

Most of those residing in this "infected district" have removed. We do not hear that many others have fled from the city, and we must do our citizens the justice to say, that they have thus far exhibited a very commendable degree of fortitude and calmness.

Yesterday, we believe, there were only two or three new cases, and about the same number to-day. We have therefore some reason to hope that the disease has spent its force, and with due prudence and precaution on the part of our citizens, will soon dissappear.

We give below a full list of the interments at the burial grounds during the week:

At the Catholic Burial Ground,

Anthony Witte, aged 4 years.
Henry Witte, " 6 "
Mary Ross, " 28 "
Elizabeth Dahman, " 25 "
Christian Dinklage, " 28 "
Henry Fechtmann, " 35 "

At the City Burial Ground.

Wife and 2 children of John Kime,
H. Radaker, wife, and son,
Miss Deweese,
Rudolph Barger,
Stephen Pierson,
Mrs. Swain,
Son and daughter of Jos. Johnson,
Mrs. Guenther and child,
Mrs. Landres.

This list is up to yesterday morning.—Since then there has been 4 more buried, whose names we have not obtained. This makes 25 in the two burial grounds. In addition to these Mrs. Hitzfield, wife of Louis Hitzfield, and Miss Harriet Coleman were buried in the country—making in all 27 deaths. This we believe is the total number who have died in the place during the week.

The Catholic clergy have converted one of their schools into a hospital, where the sick of all denominations are carefully attended to.—There have been 13 patients, of whom 1 has died and 3 been cured. The remainder, with perhaps one or two exceptions, are in a fair way of recovery.

For California.—We learn that Captain Asa Fairfield of this city, who is now in the East for the purpose of making arrangements for the "Fort Wayne and California Mining and Trading Company," has procured a new vessel, well provided with fine airy state rooms, which will sail from Boston on the 25th of October.

The company is about full, and active preparations are now being made for a departure at the time specified.

From the B'hoys.—Within the past few days letters have been received from several of the California emigrants from this place. Mr. John Briggs and Mr. Bowser write from San Francisco, announcing their safe arrival, and stating that they would depart for the diggings on Feather River in a few days. The accounts from the diggings were quite favorable, and the gold represented to be fully as abundant as the most flattering accounts had described.

Letters have also been received from Mr. Joseph Miller and Mr. Barnes, who left here about two years ago for Oregon. Nothing previously had been heard from them, and it was feared they had perished on the route.—Miller has bought a large farm in Oregon, near Oregon City, but is now in California with his sons, young Costello, and Barnes. Both he and Barnes give favorable accounts of the abundance of gold in California.

By letters received from Mr. Bartlett and Mr. G. E. Smith, we learn that the parties to which they are attached reached Fort Laramie early in June—all well. They had not experienced any particular hardships on the route, and were all in high spirits.

Look out for Burglars.—Several houses in this city were entered on Wednesday night last, but fortunately the rascals did not get much for their pains—in the whole not more probably than $15 or $18. It would be well for all to look to the fastenings of their doors and windows before retiring for the night; and it might not be amiss to prepare a warm reception for the miscreants in case of a visit.—A lead pill, aided in its operation by a powder composed of saltpetre, sulphur and charcoal, properly administered, would effectually cure their propensity to make these nocturnal visits.

The New York Democracy.—No Reunion.—The conventions of the Hunker and Barnburner factions of the democratic party in New York, held this week, have adjourned without effecting a compromise or reunion.—The Hunkers passed a resolution against slavery, and at the same time declaring their opposition to its being made a party test, in any form or under any circumstances. This the barnburners would not agree to; and a proposition made by them to go into a joint convention, form one State organization, and nominate a ticket to be supported by both, was in like manner rejected by the Hunkers. The conventions have adjourned without effecting a compromise, and the Empire State is abandoned to the whigs. We cannot believe that either of the factions have much regard for the principles of the democratic party, and we look upon the whole squabble as a mere struggle on the part of the leaders of the adverse factions to secure to themselves the control of the party in the State. Unless the rank and file cut loose from these leaders, they had better leave the democratic ranks and call themselves by some other name. They will no longer be worthy to bear the honored name of democrats.

Cholera in Sandusky City.—The Sandusky Mirror gives a report of the interments in that sorely-afflicted place from July 9th to Aug. 8th. The whole numbet amounts to 320.—The population of the place is 5,667; but it is estimated that not more than 3000 remained during the prevalence of the cholera. One tenth therefore were swept off by the pestilence.

Canadian Annexation.—The British American League.—We have already stated by telegraph that this convention at Kingston, Canada, has decided on recommending the permanent consolidation of the Provinces into a Federal Union, and design putting forth an address to that effect. We note, that annexation is rarely mentioned, or even hinted at.—The New York Express says:—

"Some of the members, it is true, have spoken of the good which might result from such a measure, but this has been rather to intimidate both the public authorities at home, and in England, than with any serious purpose of consumating such a union

"The convention itself seems to be made up of the disaffected of both parties, and numbers in all, perhaps, 150 delegates. They have been in session six days, and commenced with closed doors and a prayer. A proposition allowing any member to speak disrespectfully of the Queen and Governor-General, or the rules of Parliament, forbidding any one thus to speak, was lost by a small majority.—On Friday, the doors were thrown open, and speeches made for protection to Canadian manufacturers. The members made up an odd compound of good, bad and indifferent, but there seems to be in it much more of the bad than the good. We do not see any thing of a really Republican feature in the whole body."

The New York Tribune says:

"A Wilson, the reputed author of a series of essays for getting rid of British connexion, has a seat. Wilson moved for a democratic elective Senate, and got nine votes. The cloak of loyalty is expected to pay as yet, and a new loan from England (never to be repaid) is confidently hoped for. Those who cried Annexation last April, sing of Loyalty like so many cuckoos. The League appears to be an effort of the outs to agree upon a plan by which they may obtain for themselves and adherents a new lease of "the best gifts of the crown."

A dispatch from Montreal, August 1st, says that the League has adopted an order to reassemble at the same time and place with the next Canada Parliament. Various resolutions were passed, but nothing important done.—The American flag was hoisted and pulled down. Thus ends Canadian annexation for the present.

Queen Victoria and the Canadian Indemnity Bill.—Sir Allen McNab, now in England, writes home to his friends who are raising such a disturbance in Canada, that things look more promising to them England. If his statements are to be relied on, he has been successful in bringing the English government to a pause in their demonstration of favor towards Lord Elgin and his French supporters. He writes that orders have been sent not to pay a cent of indemnity to any former rebel. The Queen, he says, suspends action on the question of approving the indemnity bill, and a motion is to be made in the House of Commons for the production of the petitions sent from Canada to the Home government for the disallowance of the indemnity bill, and the recall of Lord Elgin. This can hardly be expected after the stand already taken by the British government, and its approval of Lord Elgin's course.—Albany Knickerbocker, August 7.

Death of Albert Gallatin.—The Telegraphic reports of this morning announce the death of this venerable and venerated statesman, who died in New York yesterday morning. His age approached near a century, and of him it may be truly said, he 'died full of honors and years.' He was, at the time of his death, the oldest surviving member of the previous cabinets,—having enjoyed the confidence of 'the early Presidents.' He held the distinguished post of Secretary of the Treasury under Mr. Jefferson, and was continued in the same office by Mr. Madison. The most prominent service he ever performed was as a member of the Treaty Commission at Ghent, in connection with Mr. Adams and Mr. Clay, the latter of whom is now the only surviving member of this important Commission.

Mr. Gallatin retained his faculties unimpaired until the last, and took a lively interest in public affairs, frequently exercising his pen in disquisitions upon matters of public policy.—Cincinnati Dispatch.

The Mails—The Mails.—Among the inflictions of poor Job, that of being an editor in these days of the "Collamer-morbus," of which disease, cutting off heads, and a derangement of the mails are the symptoms, and the ballot-box the remedy, was spared him.

We are tired of losing our best exchanges, or of getting them days and weeks after they are due; and tired, too, of reading the interminable complaints of similar evils which befal our editorial brethren in all parts of the Union.

With a heavy exchange, we scarce get a handful of papers by the great Eastern and Western mails—two-thirds of our exchanges manage to come up missing each day, and it so happens that those we most need are the most certain to be lost.

For such disarrangement, there is a cause, and that cause is to be traced to the utter incompetency or dishonesty of a large number of the newly appointed postmasters, appointed to the station, not on account of fitness, but as a reward for partizan service.—O. Statesman.

Truman Smith—His Circular and his Sorrows.—Truman Smith, the modern atlas upon whose shoulders the administration has placed itself in order to be carried over its violated pledges in triumph, thus writes to the Indianians, a short time before the late election:

"I have understood that some disaffection has been felt in your State by reason of the impression, more or less prevalent that the new administration has not done justice to Indiana. I beg to assure you, if there is any foundation for such an idea, it is not my fault."

The returns of the late election shows that there was 'some dissatisfaction' as Truman says, for the Democratic Governor and Lieut. Governor have somewhere in the neighborhood of Ten Thousand of a majority, and the Legislature is more Democratic than ever before.

Again Truman in the same circular says:

"My position would be somewhat embarrassing in urging a favorable consideration of your claims, if your State shall return a delegation mainly hostile to the new administration. If the whigs of Indiana shall act in their usual lofty and patriotic spirit, I am confident the result of the election will be alike creditable to the State and auspicious to the whole country."

Truman's position is "somewhat embarrassing" no doubt, as the whipper in for the administration, he promised to wheel our Hoosier neighbors into line, but they are made of different stuff from what Truman supposed. The State has repudiated Taylorism, and the result is "alike creditable to the State, and auspicious to the whole country." Poor whiggery is knocked into a cocked hat, and poor Truman into a nonenity.—Ohio Statesman.

☞ The Charleston News does not approve of annexing Canada to the United States.—It hints at various considerations for opposing an extension of our territory in that direction, but the fact that there are no slaves in that province is not mentioned among them.

Awful attempt at Self Destruction.—The Dayton Journal gives the following account of a rash attempt of a young lady in that city, to rid herself of existence. We should judge by the amount of green corn with other vegetables of a like character, which the greenhorns of this city carry home 'cool as a cucumber,' a great many rash attempts at self-destruction are made in a similar manner in this city.

We understand that a young lady of this city, respectably connected, accomplished and beautiful, attempted self destruction yesterday. She seemed to be in remarkable fine spirits, and nothing in her conduct during the day had excited the remotest suspicion of her terrible design. About four o'clock in the afternoon she went into the garden and soon returned with something in her apron. She then went to the kitchen, and was there alone nearly an hour, apparently busy about some ordinary culinary employment. There was nothing unusual in this, and the family paid no attention to her. At a quarter after five, her mother thought it was about time to begin the preparation of supper, and entering the kitchen for that purpose, beheld a spectacle easier imagined than described. There sat her daughter, young, beautiful, and in 'perfect health,' gnawing away at a huge ear of green corn, with the dismantled cobs of two others by her plate!

We learn from the Doctor, this morning, that she is 'able to be about the house,' but the motive of her conduct is a profound mystery. He inclines to think she must have been 'tired of life.'

Federal Whig Sentiments.—The following is the language of Saml. W. Parker, the whig candidate for Congress in the 4th district of this State, one of the great guns of whiggery in Indiana. It was published in a newspaper some years ago, of which he was the editor:

"The time now is, if there ever was or will be a time, when true-hearted American freemen should awake and bestir themselves.—The country is literally alive and swarming with ignorant Foreigners.—men who were born and lived all their days under the iron and ignominious sway of Kings and Priests,—men who from their King-ridden and Priest-ridden ignorance, if not from their absolute wickedness, can be as little trusted with the intellectual immunities of an American citizen as an infant child can be with the keeping of a blazing firebrand in a magazine of powder! Foreign Kings for their safety at home and the contamination of Republicanism, and the Pope of Rome for pushing on the conquest of the Whore of Babylon, are throwing thousand upon thousands of these bespotted and reckless creatures upon our shores every week. The vote of such a slave of Kings and the Pope, will weigh just as much and count just as much in the ballot-box, as that of the native-born American. * * * It is absolutely heart sickening for the patriotic native-born American citizens to visit one of our large cities and witness the multitude of these wretches who swarm through the streets and infest every dark corner and dirty hovel, ignorant of everything but abject obedience to haughty Lords and heartless Priests. It makes one feel like a foreigner, though treading the soil upon which he was born,—it makes him feel like a stranger, though sitting in his own house by his native hearth-stone,—and above all, it makes him feel that a mighty deluge is pouring over his land which is destined to drown and utterly overwhelm those liberties and that holy religion which his fathers bequeathed to him in letters of blood."

The following most scandalous toast was given at the celebration of the 4th, in Chicopee, Mass.

Our Fire Companie—may they be like old maids, always ready, yet never wanted.

We will bet a tin flip that the fellow who gave that toast was "always ready, yet never wanted," and moreover, that he will never be otherwise.

Another Patriot brought to the Block.

We learn from a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun that the chivalrous and heroic Gen. Lane—the Marion of the Mexican war—has been removed from the office of governor of Oregon, and a Mexican whig by the name of J. H. Marshall, of Indiana, appointed to succeed him. Can this be the act of Gen. Taylor? We cannot believe it. We cannot believe that he would remove a soldier as distinguished nearly as himself, and who had won laurels as green as his own. Yet the deed has been done, to the disgrace of the administration, and to the dishonor of the man who nominally stands at its head. Is no honorable service, no deeds of noble daring, no wounds in the country's service, to protect the patriots who risk their lives in battle, from fierce and vindictive persecution of these friends of Great Britain and Mexico who have stolen into power by a once honored name?—Let the people rise up and rebuke such monstrous ingratitude to our country's defenders—such base perfidy to a country's honor.—These iniquitous acts are intolerable, and should be avenged by hurling the party which dares to be guilty of them from the places which they dishonor.—Washington Union, Aug 11.

The Union finds it difficult to believe in this infamous act of Taylor. Under other circumstances, we should labor under the same doubt. But knowing the jealousy, and consequently the hatred with which Taylor has ever regarded Gen. Lane, especially after the battle of Buena Vista, we have only been surprised that he has delayed the execution of this measure of revenge so long. He did not mean to delay it, when he passed up the Ohio on his way to Washington; for at Madison, as we have it on good whig authority, he swore with an oath that it should be the first of his presidential acts. The delays no doubt, was the result of the advise of our whig leaders, and of the Cabinet Regency which directs all Taylor's acts; and the delay was a prudent one on their part. They had reason to suppose that the people of Indiana would have resented this insult to the State, at the ballot boxes in August. Therefore, instead of removing Gen. Lane before the election, they kept dark in regard to him, and through the President of their outside cabinet, Truman Smith, promised more offices, if the people could be induced to vote for congressmen of the Taylor stripe.

The manner of the act therfore is as mean and cowardly as the act itself; and it corresponds precisely with Taylor's character, as we have always estimated it,—a character very deficient indeed in all the qualities that mark the gentleman or the generous soldier.

The Union expresses surprise at this removal of "a soldier as distinguished nearly as Taylor himself," &c. We think that was one of the strongest reasons for Lane's removal, as the strongest incentive of Taylor's original jealousy and hatred of him. Lane, be it remembered, was a Volunteer General; and Taylor hated the volunteers, from the highest to the lowest, from the beginning to the end of the war. And now, if the Union will observe carefully, it will discover, that almost, if not quite all, of the soldiers, who had been appointed to civil office by President Polk, as some acknowledgement of their patriotism.—but who have since been turned out of these offices with Taylor's assent.—belonged to the Volunteer portion of the army. We do not believe that Taylor entertained an idea on this subject, in any degree more liberal than might be expected to characterize the meanest of the Russian Generals. Men are to be hired to fight for pay, and to become subject to tyrannous discipline, without murmuring, under penalty of death; officers fight for personal advancement as well as plunder. These are Taylor's notions; and of course he has no respect for the patriotism which marks the volunteer. Of course also, Taylor hated Lane all the more intensely, because of Lane's extraordinary generosity of character as a man, and his impetuous courage and bravery as a soldier.

Under such circumstances, instead of the removal of Lane being a disgrace to him, it is the highest honor which the mercenary Taylor could possibly confer upon him. The disgrace and dishonor attach wholly to Taylor, and it will stick to him like a coat of tar and feathers, which, in our cool and deliberate opinion, he deserves to wear.—State Sentinel.

The Boundary Commissioners.—By the following letter published in the New Orleans Picayune it will be seen that the Mexican Commissioner, General Condee has at length made his appearance at San Diego, where Colonel Weller the Commissioner on the part of the United States has been awaiting his arriva, in order to run and mark the boundary between the two countries, as provided for in the Treaty of Peace. It is unfortunate for the whig editors that Colonel Weller had to wait for the Mexican Commissioner, instead of the Mexican Commissioner waiting for him as falsely charged by the New York Tribune, for political effect, and to pave the way for Colonel Weller's removal. The fact that it was the Mexican, not the United States Commissioner, that was in default, has spoiled a vast amount of whig thunder, and places the Administration who removed Colonel Weller, upon the Tribune's charges of being behind his time, in a predicament supremely ridiculous.

San Diego, July 3—6 P. M.

The Mexican Commission arrived this morning, from San Blas in an English ship, after a forty days' passage. General Condee is at the head of the Commission. He has a hundred and forty soldiers with him, and forty women, an American omnibus and four horses. Another detachment of troops are on their way by land. A party of dragoons have just escorted Major Emory to the beach to receive the General and bring him up to this place.

A detachment of dragoons are under orders to proceed with Captain Hardcastle, Topographical Engineers, on the 5th, to discover the highest peak of mountains on the range this side of the Colorado.

There is to be a grand celebration here to-morrow in honor of the anniversary of American Independence. Colonel Weller, United States Commissioner, is to deliver an oration, after which there is to be a barbecue, and in the evening a ball. I shall be here to see. I have no time to write more, as the steamer is hourly expected.

Yours, &c. J. E. D.

The Great Administration Mare's Nest.—We could hardly suppress laughter, yesterday, while reading the President's Proclamation in relation to the invasion of Cuba. It is evidently an administration trick, nothing more, to divert the attention of the people from certain other matters, which just now afford no aid and comfort to the power that be. We refer to the late election.

The administration has been so suddenly let down by the people, wherever the latter have had a chance to do so, and the tide of public opinion is just now setting in so strong against the new Government, that something dark and suspicious, and that which will demonstrate the courage and patriotism of the new administration, must be hatched up to tickle the public ear.

We do not believe one word in this noise about Cuba. There is nothing even probable in it. If there is a move on foot to annex this Island to the United States, by first helping the inhabitants through a revolution, this is not the administration to put down the movement. But the President does not seem to know, exactly, what is on foot. He says:

"There is reason to believe that an armed expedition is about to be fitted out in the United States, with an intention to invade the Island of Cuba, or some of the provinces of Mexico."

Fudge! The Government organ, the Republic, says:

"That bodies of men were in course of being levied and drilled in New Orleans, New York and other cities, that money to considerable amount has been contributed, that arms has been provided, and arrangements made on a large scale with a view to some military expedition. Their movements have been conducted with great secrecy, and the object of the enterprise has been concealed even from individuals who have embarked in it."

"Levying men" and drilling them, and getting their money, without their knowing the "object of the enterprise." Oh flummery!—The whole is a hoax.

It is very strange, too, that the President should leave Washington on a visiting tour at such a time, and have to date his Proclamations along the road, when as the Republic asserts, "this information has been for some time in the possession of the Government."

Try again, gentlemen! This trick won't take in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Missouri, where a few more public demonstrations are soon to come off, for the benefit (over the left) of this administration.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

☞ Since the 14th of July ult. seventy-six of the citizens of Eaton, comprising men, women and children, have died, several non-residents, swelling the number to very near one hundred! All the work of cholera, with two or three exceptions; and this mortality out of a population not exceeding one thousand—making about ten out of every hundred, and averaging three deaths per day.—Eaton Democrat.

The Flight of the Shepherds.—The Lebanon Star, in speaking of the panic that pervaded Eaton, where the cholera has been raging fiercely, says:

We have been informed, that on Fast Day there was not a minister of the Gospel in Eaton—the shepherds, struck with a panic, fled to places of imaginary safety, leaving the sheep to take care of themselves. The deserted congregations all held prayer meetings, and were happily relieved from the terror-stricken countenances of their faithless pastors. We trust they will find time, in their retreats, to meditate on the following passages of Holy Writ: "I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge, and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust. Surely He shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night, nor for the arrow that flieth by day; nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness, nor for the destruction that wasteth at noon day. A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee. Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the Most High, thy habitation, there shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. For He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways. With long life will I satisfy him, and show him my salvation." Peradventure an enemy hath stolen these passages from the Bibles of the Eaton clergymen!

The Draft Protested.—Truman Smith's draft on Indiana has been dishonored. He drew on that State for four whig Congressmen, and but one has been placed to his credit, and he, McGaughey! Truman promised offices in return, but all of no avail. The Hoosiers either doubted his ability to perform, or spurned the bribe. Even the Wayne District has returned an anti-Taylor Congressman. In the last Congress there were four whigs from our sister State—there will be but one in the next. Taylorism under Truman Smith's auspices, has progressed most marvellously. It is to be hoped he will not diminish his exertions; the fruits of his labors are so refreshing. This party hack we are told is paid $8 per day for staying at Washington and franking whig documents to those States in which elections were to be held this summer and fall. What better is that than if he were to sell the franking privilege to the whig club at Washington, at $8 per day? What a rebuke has he not personally received from Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, all of which States he has been flooding with his franked circulars and electioneering documents! We shall see what effect these rebuffs will have on the vanity and impudence of this political trickster.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

New Territories.—The Baltimore Sun learns that despatches have been received by our Government from California, stating that both these territories will be applicants to the next Congress for admission into the Union. The primary measures necessary for this are now being taken to accomplish the object. New Mexico with its population of 75,000 is already competent for admission, and the population of California is daily increasing. Its permanent population by the next session of Congress will no doubt be sufficient to demand the doors to be opened to its admission among its sister States. This will settle the question which has lately created so much dissension in Congress, in a way that must prove satisfactory to all parties.

Domestic Management of Cholera.

To the Editors of the Cincinnati Gazette:

Gentlemen—It is a lamentable fact that the greater portion of deaths from cholera arise from popular ignorance in reference to the disease and its treatment. As the disease is still raging in many parts of the country, I feel it an imperative duty to make known certain facts, which, if they had been appreciated and acted upon in this city from the commencement of the epidemic, would certainly have saved over two thousand lives.

1. It is a great error to rely exclusively upon the physician, and wait for his arrival.—Millions have perished by this error alone.—The patient has not a moment to spare—one hour's delay is often fatal. Every family should be prepared to treat itself; the disease is simple—easily managed if taken in time, and requires neither skill nor scientific learning for its successful management. Any good intelligent nurse could be taught in a single hour all that is necessary to be known for the successful management of an ordinary case of cholera. One of the most successful practitioners in our city was a barber, who, having been supplied with a stock of good cholera medicine, was called upon to administer to the relief of his neighbors, and treated a large number of cases with almost invariable success. Any intelligent citizen who understands the proper method of treating the disease will be far more successful than the most learned physician, who acts upon an erroneous theory, using calomel and the lancet instead of powerful stimulants.

2. Every family has at home all that is necessary to protect itself from cholera without calling upon a physician, or even an apothecary. A teaspoonful of common table salt, and half as much of black pepper ground fine, dissolved in a wine-glass full of vinegar, (of moderate strength,) constitutes a medicine of almost universal application in cases of cholera, cholera morbus, diarrhœa, &c. This medicine has often been tried with success by different practitioners at different times, and in this city it has proved one of the most successful means of treating Asiatic cholera. In the Cholera Hospital of Cincinnati, which has been celebrated for its successful management, this salt and pepper prescription has been fully tested and proved adequate to the control of this disease, for which it was in a number of cases relied upon alone.

If there is any diarrhœa, or tendency to diarrhœa, any rumbling or feeling of looseness in the bowels, or especially if there is any of that feeling of debilitating depression, which is the especial characteristic of cholera, and which alone is a sufficient warning, we should commence by taking a table-spoonful of the above fluid every hour, until our unpleasant symptoms are removed, and the whole digestive apparatus brought up to the standard of health. A dose or two will generally be sufficient; a repetition may be required each day or every other day, if the epidemic influence is strong.

If diarrhœa and other cholera symptoms appear, the medicine should be taken more frequently, as every half hour or every ten minutes, according to the urgency of the symptoms, and aided by external heat, or by applying flannels soaked in hot spirits of turpentine upon the bowels and limbs. The best mode of applying external heat is to wring a blanket out of hot water, (as hot as the attendants can bear to handle,) and after applying this around the naked person of the patient, cover with dry blankets, and change the whole every fifteen or twenty minutes. Let them drink freely of cinnamon, ginger, or spearmint tea, and thus keep him sweating from six to twelve hours, or longer. I do not believe that more than one case in fifty would be lost if these directions were faithfully followed.

A very simple domestic remedy which has also been tested in the cholera hospital, especially upon the physicians and nurses, is ley. A tumbler of weak ley, from fresh wood ashes, generally checks very promptly the premonitory symptoms of cholera. Families who profit by these hints will have but little occasion for medical aid in cholera, and the physician will have but little trouble in curing promptly patients who have taken such a course. Indeed, there is very little danger in cholera when a bold stimulating practice is pursued. Such a practice has been pursued by the Eclectic physicians of this city, and they have lost but about one case in thirty.

As this communication is designed exclusively for domestic practice, I shall say nothing of the management of the cholera by physicians, (a subject which has been fully presented in the Eclectic Medical Journal and the Journal of Man,) and would conclude by requesting editors who wish to assist in saving human life to republish these suggestions, for the benefit of their readers.

JOSEPH R. BUCHANAN.

A remarkable Statement about Cholera.—An eminent physician of Paris, Dr. Ronet, has written to a professional brother in Liverpool, statements so startling in reference to the results of a very simple mode of treating in the worst stage, the disease now so fatally prevalent in Paris, that we deem it our duty at once to lay it before the public. The letter, of which the following is a translation, is dated Paris June 18th:—"I think it my duty to inform my professional brethren, that in a great number of patients affected with cholera in the last stage, that is to say when the pulse is absent, and in the commencement of the blue stage I have succeded in restoring the action of the heart and recovering the patient from the blue stage by administering at intervals of half an hour four cups of a hot and sweetened infusion of the common lime tree, mint, balm, or chamomile, &c., in each of which cup of infusion were four drops of volatile alkali, making 16 drops, which the patient may take in two hours. The reaction is almost instantaneous. The pulse commences instantaneously to beat, rather irregularly at first it is true, but afterwards with force; the blue state disappears; the body, face and extremities are covered with hot and copious sweat, and in a few hours the patient is entirely out of danger. It is frequently necessary to combat the reaction when it becomes too strong, by the assistance of bleeding."

We notice the marriage of Mr. Day to Miss Field, which presents the singular anomaly,—although he won the Field, she gained the Day!

MARRIED,—On Tuesday last, by Hon. J. H. McMaken, Mr. Hubbard Nickerson to Mrs. Margaret Lasure, both of this county.

VALUABLE

Mill Property for Sale.

THE undersigned offers for sale his Mill Property situate on the Elkhart River, in Noble County, Indiana, 40 miles north west from Fort Wayne and the Wabash and Erie Canal.—The property is now improved with a SAW-MILL, and Head Gates for GRIST and other MILLS. The Dam is one of the best in the country, and has been built only two years, but during that time has withstood without the slightest injury unusual freshets that caused more or less damage to all other dams on the river. The supply of water is unfailing, and sufficient with the head of 7½ feet of driving 4 run of 4½ feet stones, Saw Mill and Woollen Mill at all times, and during most of the year almost any amount of machinery could be propelled.

The Saw Mill has recently been put in first rate order, and is considered one of the best in the west. Logs in any quantity of the best kinds, such as Poplar, Black Walnut, Ash, Oak, and Cherry, can always be obtained.

The property is situate in the midst of a thickly settled country, where mills are much needed and water power scarce, thereby insuring to the owner a monopoly of the milling business of the country, if well managed.

In connection with the mill and water power, will be sold

on which the mill is situated, together with Timber got out for the erection of a Flouring Mill.

GENTLEMEN:—It has been my sincere desire to give satisfaction in my humble though important calling, to all my patrons; my door has been opened at all times, and on all days, for your accomodation; and I am very thankful for the extensive patronage with which I have been favored.

I shall continue to perform my duties faithfully, and in the best style at all times here after, except on Sunday; that day I have resolved to keep as a day of rest. Will you sustain me in this resolution? I hope you will.

My motto, in future, shall be—"sink or swim, starve or grow fat, I'll shave no more on Sunday!"

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
WILLIS ELLIOT.

REV. J. R. SWIFT, A. M., Professor of Ethics and Belles Lettres.
JAMES H. DAVIESS, Esq., Professor of Law.
REV. H. V. D. NEVIUS A. M., Principal of the Academy.
CAPT. C. E. MOTT, Teacher in the Academy.
CAPT. W. W. GAUNT, Adjutant of the Institute.

*Educated at West Point. †Educated at the Virginia Military Institute.

Two hundred and thirty Cadets, from fifteen different States, have entered this Institution since it was organized, in 1847. It is entirely free from the control or domination of any sect or party, either political or religious. Economy in dress, in the adoption of a cheap Uniform, for Winter and summer, is rigidly enforced. Every student is required to select a College guardian, with whom all funds brought or received must be deposited, and no debt must be contracted without the consent of such guardian.

An Institution combining the science of the West Point Academy and of Polytechnic Institutes, with the classical literature of our best Colleges, adding the modern languages, and superadding practical schools of Law and Engineering, nearly realizes the long-felt desideratum of a university able to meet the wants of Western progress—a university where all may select a course of study to suit their time, means and profession or destination.

Mr. Daviess, the Professor of Law, is known in the various Courts as a practitioner of great ability, varied learning, long experience and exalted character. His eminent qualifications, the wholesome exercise and discipline of the Institution, and the convenient observation of the forms of judicial proceedings, offer unusual inducements to those who are earnest to achieve distinction as sound Lawyers.

CIVIL ENGINEERING

Will be thoroughly and practically taught in the Western Military Institute—the Professor, Col. Morgan, being one of the most skillful and experienced Engineers in the United States. All the instruments connected with that department, have been procured at considerable cost, and of the best quality.

The Superintendent takes the liberty of stating that he is now offered seventy-five dollars per month for competent assistant Engineers. One of his former pupils receives at this time $2,500 per annum as Principal Engineer of a Railroad now under construction in Kentucky—whilst others of the same class are receiving in different parts of the United States, $2000, $1500, and $1000 a year as assistant Engineers.

The time is rapidly approaching when there will be a great demand for such as have been prepared for that vocation at the Western Military Institute. Nothing is hazarded in saying that they will readily command $1200 or $1500 per annum. Every man of observation must see that the gigantic enterprise already proposed, will give birth to hundreds of others, tributary to them. The rapid advancement of our whole country, and the eagerness of our people for exploring the hidden resources of the new States and the newly acquired territory, will give ample scope for ages to come, to the skill and enterprise of the Engineer, the Geologist, the Mineralogist, the Surveyor, and the Architect. Young men who have an aptitude for the Mathematical and Physical sciences, will have a wide field opened to them for engaging in an honorable, a healthful and a lucrative pursuit, for which they may be thoroughly and practically qualified, in a short time, and at small expense, at the Western Military Institute.

TERMS:

In the Academy,	$30 00	per annum.
In the College,	40 00	" "
For music and use of arms and accoutrements	3 00	" "
For fuel,	2 00	" "

Boarding can be had in private families, at from two to two and a half dollars a week. When in Barracks, it is designed to furnish Commons at a uniform rate. Students from a distance will be required to board at the Institute, and have no communication with the town, except as allowed by written permits.

☞ The next session will commence on the first of September and continue ten months.

Valuable Farm for Sale.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, for Cash, a valuable farm on the St. Mary's river, near the Bluffton road, and within two miles of Fort Wayne. The property consists of one hundred and nine acres of land, seventy five acres of which are under cultivation; a good frame dwelling house of two stories, an excellent frame barn with stables below, and other out buildings; and a young orchard of choice grafted fruit.

This farm, from its location and other advantages offers uncommon inducements to any desirous to purchase. The farm will be sold cheap as the owner is about to leave the country.

HOUGH & TURNER.

Fort Wayne Mar 31, 1849. 39.

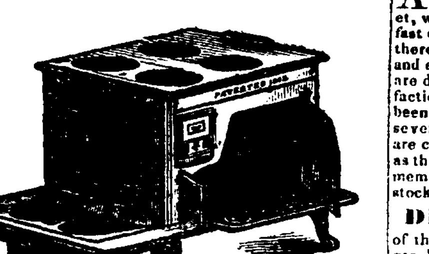

B. W. OAKLEY,

THANKFUL for the favors of the past, would respectfully inform his old customers and the public generally that his Fall and Winter supply has in part arrived, and is still coming; so that by the close of navigation all demands for the season can be promptly filled.

STOVES.

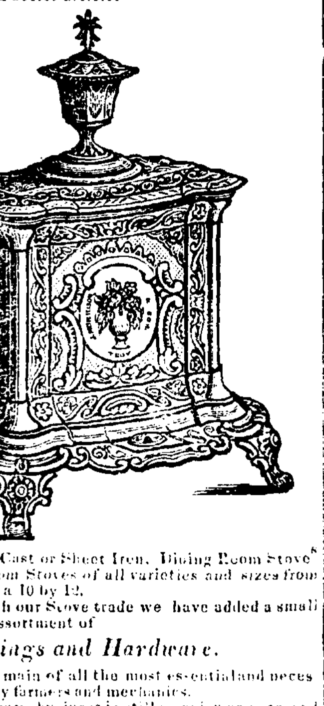

We place the "IMPERIAL AIR TIGHT" first; because we consider them decidedly foremost in the way of all Stoves.

The "UNITED STATES AIR TIGHT" is next, tho' many consider them equal, if not superior to those above—and with them may be classed the Washington and Troy Air Tights and the Quackenboss Air Tights, of Albany.

PREMIUM STOVES.

Among the different kinds of Premium Cooking Stoves we have the "Troy Victory," to the excellent qualities of which all who have ever tried them will readily attest. We selected them as the best premium stove in market, and the increased demand for them induced us to bring on a large assortment. We have also the common premiums from Buffalo and Cincinnati, and last though not least, the "Farmer," with no roses or superficial ornaments, but so well recommended that any one wishing a stove can take it, and bring it back again if it does not work well. Last, & least in the Cooking line stands the great "Hathaway," of Dayton, which we keep on hand for the especial benefit of those who prefer this to a better article.

Parlor Stoves of Cast or Sheet Iron, Dining Room Stoves, Shop and Store Room Stoves of all varieties and sizes from a meeting house to a 10 by 12.

In connection with our Stove trade we have added a small but well selected assortment of Castings and Hardware.

Consisting in the main of all the most essential and necessary articles used by farmers and mechanics.

Our Tin and Copper business is still as noisy as ever, and all hands ready and happy to wait upon those who desire any thing in our line.

In Advance of the Telegraph!

W. SMITH & Co., No. 3 Jones' Block, respectfully inform the Ladies that they have just received their

SPRING STOCK

Of New and Fashionable GOODS,

embracing every thing really desirable in the Eastern markets, and which will be sold at prices to Beat the Jews!

The Ladies are invited to call and examine this splendid stock, far exceeding any thing ever brought to the place. Their are peculiarly rich and becoming; their stock of Bonnet Ribbons, is beyond comparison the best ever seen in the west; and as for Lawns, Ginghams, DeLaines, Calicoes, &c., &c., the half of what might truly be said about them would not be believed. Therefore a general invitation is extended to all to call and judge for themselves.

SEEING IS BELIEVING.

P. S. Beware of WANDERING JEWS, unless you wish to be shaved; you can buy a good genuine article at No. 3 for considerably less than the small pox pedlers charge for their damaged, imperfect, spurious, flimsy articles, which are made to sell and not to wear.

NEW ARRIVAL

At the Ohio Cash Store.

AYLSWORTH & BORDEN are now receiving their SPRING & SUMMER GOODS suitable for the market, which have been selected with a view to durability and fast colors. Having purchased many of them from first hands, thereby saving one profit, they will be sold at a small advance, and even cheaper than others are selling inferior goods. We are desirous that all goods sold by us should give entire satisfaction, as it regards durability and prices. The goods have been purchased in New York, and not in Cincinnati where several of our merchants have made their purchases, and we are confident that we can sell goods in Fort Wayne as cheap as they do in Cincinnati. This is an important fact to be remembered by those who purchase goods in this city. Our stock is new and fresh, we have a great variety of

of the latest styles, consisting in part of silk and linen bereges, brocade linen lustres, linen, English, Scotch, French, and hair cloth ginghams, balzarines, lawns, figured and plain jaconets, every variety of prints. Beautiful plain and embroidered white crape shawls, berage and mous de laine do; canton crape scarfs. Also a large stock of French and English cloths, cassimeres, cashmerets, croton cloths, plain and figured satin vestings, figured and plain surge de rhone vestings, fancy do; plain barathea vestings, Kentucky and cumlet jeans, summer cloth, cottonades, satinetts, &c. A large stock of gloves and hosiery of every description.

BONNETS.—Beautiful French braid bonnets, French lace mourning do; Rough and Ready, China, pearl, leghorn, and English straw do; Misses Jenny Lind do, open braid and leghorn flats. ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS of every variety, mourning sprigs; also a splendid stock of

HATS.—Fashionable silk hats, English, Duesta, and Rutland, do Pedal, and plain and colored leghorn; also a magnificent stock of

BOOTS AND SHOES.—Ladies' black and colored walking and dress gaiters, Congress half gaiters, Excelsiors, slippers and walking shoes, Misses' gaiters, slippers and morocco boots, childrens' shoes of every description and size.

Carpets and Rugs.

We have in store fine ingrain and Venitian carpets, Wilton and tufted rugs, Brussels carpet bags and satchels. We would here say to the public that we have made extensive arrangements with a house in New York, to enable us to open a carpet room, where we will during the course of the summer receive a large and splendid stock, and shall keep constantly on hand every variety of carpeting used in the West, together with oil floor cloths, matting, druggets, rugs, &c. and will sell them as cheap as a single carpet can be purchased in Cincinnati, or a small advance over New York costs.

We are daily expecting a large stock of sheetings and domestic goods, Hardware, Queensware, Groceries, &c., shipped by the Erie Canal.

WANTED—All kinds of Produce the Farmer has to dispose of in exchange for goods, at the lowest cash prices. We will take all the butter offered at the highest market price.—Don't forget the place, in Hamilton's block. Store formerly occupied by Thomas Hamilton, second store from the corner. Thankful for the liberal patronage heretofore received, we are determined to sell our goods very cheap, that we may merit the continuation of the same.

SLOAN'S COLUMN.

☞ All the Medicines advertised by W. B. Sloan are sold by merchants, Druggists, &c. in nearly every town in all the Western States, and by Dr. L. BEECHER, Fort Wayne.

The best and cheapest Horse Medicine in the World.

SLOAN'S OINTMENT AND CONDITION POWDER, have earned a great name. For Purity, Mildness, Safety, Certainty and Thoroughness, Sloan's Ointment excels, and is rapidly superseding all other Ointments and Liniments now in use for the cure of the following diseases:

Fresh Wounds, Galls of all kinds, Sprains, Bruises, Cracked Heels, Ringbone, Windgalls, Poll Evil, Callus, Spavins, Sweeney, Fistula, Sitfast, Strains, Lameness, Sand Crack, Foundered Feet, Scratches or Grease, Mange, or Horn Distemper.

The Powder will remove all inflamation and fever, purify the blood, loosen the skin, cleanse the water, and strengthen every part of the body; and has proved a sovereign remedy for the following diseases: Distemper, Hide Bound, Loss of Appetite, Inward Strain, Yellow Water, Inflamation of the Eyes, Fatigue from hard exercise; also, Rheumatism, (commonly called stiff complaint,) which proves so fatal to many valuable horses in this country. It is also a safe and certain remedy for coughs and colds which generate so many fatal diseases.

W. B. SLOAN,

Grand Depot, 40 Lake St., Chicago, Illinois.

The Proof.

Extract from the Galena "Northwestern Gazette."

☞ By the use of Sloan's Ointment and Condition Powder, I have entirely cured a fistula on m horse and otherwise improved his condition more than 500 per cent., on the cost of the medicine. And a cow which was so feeble as to be considered worthless by myself and neighbors, was restored to good health and strength by the use of less than half a package of the powders, and is now doing better than any other cow I have WM. VINCENT.

Small Pox, May 13, 1848.

THE SUFFRING CHILD.

I hereby certify that one of my children when naked, fell into a large fire of live coals, and was burned severely from head to foot. The best of medical aid and attention was given to the child for four or five days without any relief—each day's suffering increased till its groans could be heard at a great distance. At this critical period one of my neighbors recommended and presented to me a box of SLOAN'S OINTMENT, and in less than fifteen minutes after the application of the Ointment to the aggravated sores of the suffering child, the pain ceased entirely, and he speedily began to recover. My residence is in Holt Township, Vermilion county, and State of Indiana.

THEODORE L. TAYLOR.

Dated at Chicago, Aug. 24, 1848.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE.

April 13th, 1848. Four miles north of Chicago, (on the road to Milwaukie.) Cook County, Illinois.

Mr. Sloan—Dear Sir: One of my horses had a large bony tumor on his breast bone, immediately under the collar, which lamed him and rendered his services of very little value. I then procured Wilder's Celebrated Horse Ointment, and used that until I became fully satisfied that it would never relieve the animal. Finally I obtained a box of your truly valuable Ointment, and in less than sixty days from the first application the tumor entirely disappeared, and the horse was well.

Yours, EDWARD ARMSTRONG.

POPULAR OPINION.

If popular opinion is any criterion of the worth of an article, we invite the incredulous to read at least a few of the many voluntary certificates that appear in our columns respecting the great variety of remarkable cures effected by the use of "Sloan's Celebrated Ointment and Condition Powders,"

These remedies no longer remain among those of doubtful utility, they have passed the ebb tide of experiment, and now stand higher in reputation and are becoming more extensively used than all other articles of the kind.—City News.

The half has not been told.

Fox River, June 12, 18[illegible].

Dr. Sloan—Sir: Please send by the bearer a new supply of your Horse Medicines. They are the best of the kind that I have ever used, never having been disappointed in their effects. I have been in the use of other, even the most celebrated Ointments, Liniments, &c. of the day. I like very much this feature in them, viz. that they do all that is promised, and a thorough trial one is constrained to admit that "half has not been told.

Respectfully, M. Du[illegible]

THE DIFFERENCE.

The ordinary Ointments and Liniments of the day well known, are severe and partial in their operation. Sloan's Ointment is mild yet thorough; it reaches and removes the cause, hence it affords real and permanent relief.

For purity, mildness, safety, certainty and thoroughness, SLOAN'S Ointment excels, and is rapidly superceding all other Ointments and Liniments now in use.

WE CAN'T GET ALONG WITHOUT IT.

BEEBE'S GROVE, Will Co., Ill.
October 24, 1848.

Mr. Sloan—

SIR: I have tested the virtue of your Ointment in the cure of rattlesnake bites, sore throat, burns, and many other injuries, and in every case it has surpassed our expectations. As a family Ointment, I have never seen its equal, and for beasts we can't get along without it.

Yours, &c., MILES M. JOHNS[illegible]

Excellent Ointment.

Mr. Sloan—Dear Sir: For a considerable length of time I was seriously afflicted with the Rheumatic complaint, and applied freely the various liniments, pain killers, &c., without obtaining relief. After which your Agent at this place influenced me to try your Ointment, and within two weeks from the time I commenced using it, the pain ceased, and I was effectually cured, and shall recommend all who are similarly afflicted with the distressing complaint, to procure your excellent ointment without delay.

Respectfully yours, OSCAR F. MOTT,
Princeville, Peoria Co., May 1, 1848.

☞ From the Hon. H. V. S. Brooks, Agent of the Illinois and Michigan Canal Packet Boat Company.

Chicago, June 24, 18[illegible].

Dr. W. B. Sloan—

DEAR SIR: For the last 30 years I have had occasion to use many horses, and have used the great variety of Liniments and Ointments in use, but have never found any thing equal to your Ointment for injuries on horses. Within the last two months I have applied your Ointment to some 80 horses, for various injuries, and in every instance it has proved a sovereign remedy.

A FINGER BITTEN ENTIRELY OFF.

Two miles south of Chicago, Sept. 14, 18[illegible].

Dr. Sloan—SIR: On the 8th instant a son of mine had a finger bitten entirely off by a horse. We immediately applied your celebrated Ointment, which relieved him of pain in a few minutes, prevented the finger from swelling the least particle, and the wound is healing rapidly.

y2 Respectfully yours, S. BROCK[illegible]

Stoves. Stoves. Stoves!

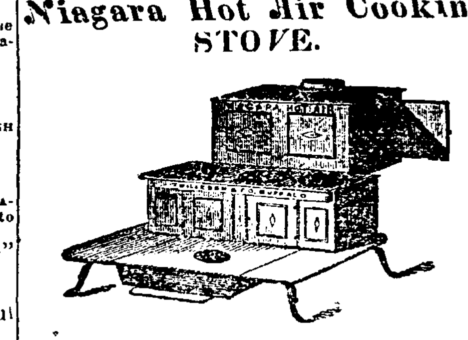

MORE of the latest styles and most improved patents in the way of HOT AIR COOKING STOVES, are now arriving at the Old Stand.

SIGN OF THE PAD LOCK.

From the following descriptions it will be seen that exertions the proprietor of this establishment is constantly making to supply the public with the latest improvements in the line of his business.

He now offers for sale the splendid 4 Boiler

Niagara Hot Air Cooking STOVE.

Warranted to economise fifty per cent in the amount of fuel it uses, and the time it take to boil or bake, over any other stove in use in this or any other country.

The next is the same man's patent of 3 Boiler

Niagara Hot Air Cooking Stove.

which take in nearly three feet wood, with all the advantages of the other. (See plate above.)

These Stoves took the first premium at a recent fair of the Erie County agricultural society, New York.

Next comes the good old EMPIRE HOT AIR COOKING STOVE, which is so well known in this country, with two ovens, one being portable. Also, the

Hathaway Hot Air Cooking Stove,

the excellent qualities of which will be readily testified to, by a number of families in Fort Wayne, who have them in use,—the proprietor's own family being one of that number. The next is another new stove called the

which is now having a great run in the East, and no doubt will run quite as fast out West, as soon as its seen and its qualities understood.

Then comes the Premium Cooking Stoves all sizes;
The Noncondensing Hot Air Parlor Stoves;
The Ten and Seven Plate Stoves;

All of them are made of the best and heaviest Castings, and are

Warranted to stand fire.

without breaking.

After these, comes the Russia Sheet Iron Parlor Office Stoves, made to order, any size that may be wanted.

TIN WARE manufactured and sold whole sale at Eastern prices. Country merchants will find it to their advantage to call here for their supplies of this article.

Tin Plate, Sheet Copper Sheet Iron and Block Tin kept constantly on hand and for sale to the trade, at the New York Hardware Store, sign of the Pad Lock.

No Cure No Pay.

I Would inform the world that I have a Remedy for curing or healing Ruptures, without any pain in the operation, and without even seeing the place thus ruptured. Some of the wise and learned may laugh and scorn at the proposition, but don't be too fast, this is no new fiction. My father has practiced the Remedy over forty years in the East, and I have cured three persons myself. I give this to the public, because I beleive it to be my duty to do all the good I can to my fellows. WM. IBA.

And I would also request editors of papers in the Country to make a short paragraph of the above in their sheets, and by so doing they will confer a blessing on some of their patrons.

Protection

Fire & Marine Insurance Company

THE subscriber has been appointed an Agent of the Protection Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., at Fort Wayne, Indiana, and is authorized to

Insure Dwelling Houses, Stores, Warehouses, Mills, Manufactories, Barns, Stables,

and the contents of each, together with every other similar species of property

Against loss or damage by Fire.

The subscriber is also authorized to issue Policies on the most favorable terms

Against loss or damage on the cargoes of Steam, Keel, Canal, and Flat Boats, while navigating the Western Rivers, Lakes, and Canals.

On account of the liberal patronage heretofore extended to said Company, they have been enabled greatly to reduce their rates of Insurance, so that now every man has an opportunity, for a trifling sum, to protect himself against the ravages of these destructive elements.

For terms of Insurance, apply to the subscriber, at the office, of Hough & Turner, on Calhoun street, north of the Spencer House.
R. D. TURNER.

Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING BEEN appointed an agent for said company, is authorized to make every kind and nature of Insurance appertaining to Life Risks, for a certain number of years or for life, grant annuities, and confer endowments.

The provisions of the charter of said company are peculiarly favorable to the assured—containing many important privileges, which experience has proved may be safely granted, and which are deemed superior to any heretofore offered in this country.

Married women may Insure the lives of their husbands, secure from the demands of creditors,

Creditors may insure their debtors, or debtors themselves, for the benefit of creditors.

The assured after a term of years, may at any time surrender the policy and receive its equitable value in cash.

The subject of Life Insurance is attracting much attention in the Eastern States, and commends itself to the favorable consideration of all, as by this means a comfortable support may be left to the wife and children when misfortune comes upon them, and the husband and father is taken from their embrace by the cold hand of death.

Pamphlets explanatory of the uses and benefits arising from Life Insurances, will be furnished those wishing to be insured.

The undersigned is also agent for the HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, HARTFORD, CONN.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, &C.,

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA.

There is no real occasion for sickness!

Dr. Ralph's Pills,

FOUNDED on the only principle on which a UNIVERSAL MEDICINE can safely and conscientiously be recommended to the world. They are fast superceding every other remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Acidity, Heartburn, Costiveness, all Impurities of the blood, Bilious ness, Liver Diseases, Fever & Ague, the DISEASES OF WESTERN CLIMATE, &c. The reason is obvious—they act in

PERFECT ACCORDANCE WITH NATURE.

Their operation is exceedingly mild and pleasant, and if taken in accordance with the directions, which are remarkably plain and clear, and to perfectly prevent diseases of every kind (see explanation of the new theory in the 'Ralphian' an invaluable paper which may be had gratis of the agents.) Their unexampled success in all the complaints of FEMALES, and those also attending pregnancy, is acknowledged by thousands.

THEY CANNOT FAIL TO CURE

NO FEMALE SHOULD BE WITHOUT THEM.

Testimonials of cures, of every disease the human system is liable to, often after all other means had failed, are consequently being received at the Central Office, N. Y. City.

Price 25 cents a box, with full directions, and Family packages at $1, (in which is much saving.)

J. B. Hanna, Fort Wayne, having been appointed general agent, will supply this celebrated medicine, wholesale and retail, on the same terms as at the Central Office.
June 13, 1848. y9

Read the following testimony from W. W. Steevens, principal of the Classical & Commercial Academy, Fort Wayne, Ind.:

"Having had repeated opportunities for the last fourteen years of witnessing the great benefits various persons have derived from the use of Doctor RALPH'S PILLS, and knowing Doctor RALPH to be a graduate of the University of Edinburg, a member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, and of the Medical College of the State of New York; also a Physician of Long, Extensive and successful Practice, I cordially recommend said Pills to all who may be afflicted with diseases for which the Pills are recommended, believing they will perform all that is promised for them if the directions or using them be strictly followed.
W. W. STEEVENS.
Fort Wayne, July, 1848.

"DEAR SIR: In compliance with your request I would state that I have used Doctor RALPH'S PILLS in my family for something like ten years, and am satisfied that they are an excellent family Medicine. I have no doubt but that the use of them has at different times saved myself and family much sickness and expense.
HUGH MILLER."

To J. B. HANNA.

The above Pills can be had at wholesale of J. B. HANNA, General Agent at Fort Wayne.

THE IMMENSE

Mineral Wealth of California

HAS induced thousands to abandon the comforts of home and brave the hardships and horrors of a trip across the Rocky Mountains, or the perils of a passage round Capehorn all of which may now be avoided, and as fair a chance found of making money at home. It is an old adage that a penny saved is two-pence earned; there is no trouble in making money here, the only thing is, to keep it after it is made. This may in a great measure be accomplished by buying at where goods can be had so cheap that none who make all their purchases there can fail to save enough to make themselves rich, and that too without running the risks necessary to pick up gold on the Sacramento.

B. MASON'S

Celebrated Cheap Store,

A large stock of SPRING & SUMMER GOODS has just been received, including a beautiful assortment of

Fancy Dress Goods.

Silks, Bareges, Linen Lawns Linen Poplins, Lawns, Gingham Lawns, White Lawns, Swiss Mulls, Plaid Mulls and Jaconetts, Victoria Lawns, Nankeens, Calicoes, &c. White and Red Crape, Embroidered Crape, Berage, and Silk SHAWLS. Parasols—a splendid assortment. Fans of every variety. Ladies' and Gents' Gloves. Leghorn, Palm Leaf, and Straw Hats. Besides all kinds of staple goods, such as Shirtings, Sheetings, Checks, Drillings, and all sorts of Summer Wear.

It is needless to say more than that the stock now on hand at this establishment fully equals all former ones, and is offered at even less than Mason's unrivalled low prices. Call and satisfy yourselves.

The stock of GROCERIES is large, and all of the choicest quality—nothing else is ever kept, and they will be sold as Cheap or CHEAPER than the inferior articles offered in some of the blowing gas-houses in this city. DYE STUFFS—Madder, Indigo, Alum, &c.

QUEENSWARE.—A large and most beautiful assortment of the latest styles.

HARDWARE.—A full stock, which is offered very low.

Every thing in the shape of BOOTS AND SHOES, from a Stogie Boot to a Baby's Shoe—including Misses' Gaiters, Slippers, Walking Shoes, &c., and Gents' Calf Boots, Water Proof Boots, Shoes, Bootees, &c. &c. at very reduced prices.

HATS AND CAPS in great variety—from a Broadway Bon Ton to a shilling cap.

STATIONERY.—He has also a large stock of Stationery—including School Books, Cap and Letter Paper, Envelopes &c. &c.

Also an endless variety of NOTIONS—such as Steel Beads, Clasps, and Purse Twists; Combs in great variety;—Travelling Bags; Pen and Pocket Knives, and every thing else that is neat, tasty, fashionable or desirable.

SALT & WHITE FISH by the bbl. NAILS & GLASS.

In short, buyers will find any thing and every thing they can ask for, and for CASH can have such bargains as they have never dreamt of. All kinds of PRODUCE, Deer Skins &c. taken in exchange for Goods.

Notice to Farmers and PRODUCE DEALERS.

THE undersigned having leased the well known CITY MILLS, in Fort Wayne, heretofore run by Hamilton & Williams, take this method of saying to all interested that they are prepared and ready to Flour promptly any quantity of Wheat, on the most reasonable terms.

Farmers who have Custom Work or Grists to grind will always find one or more Run of Stones in readiness for this purpose.

Notice.

THE Firm of SAMUEL HANNA & SONS was dissolved in July last. This is to give notice to all concerned, that the notes and accounts due said firm, both in this county and Noble, have been put in the hands of Mr. WM. C. TAYLOR for collection, who is authorized to receive and receipt for the same. Many persons owing have been repeatedly called on for payment, and as often neglected to pay, until I have become ashamed to ask them again; but I assure all persons indebted that unless their attention is immediately directed to the subject, they will find those claims in the hands of an officer for collection.

Vegetable Lithontriptic Mixture.

THIS celebrated remedy is constantly increasing its fame by the many cures it is making

ALL OVER THE WORLD.

It has now become the only medicine for family use, and particularly recommended for all stages of this complaint immediately relieved, no matter of how long standing. See Pamphlet for testimony.

GRAVEL,

and all diseases of the urinary organs; for these distressing complaints it stands alone; no other article can relieve you and the cures testified to will convince the most skeptical; see pamphlet. Liver Complaint, Billious diseases,

FEVER AND AGUE.

To the Great West especially, and wherever the complaint prevail this medicine is offered.

NO MINERAL AGENT,

no deleterious compound is a part of this mixture, it cures these diseases with certainty and celerity, and does not leave the system torpid. See Pamphlet.

PILES,

a complaint of a most painful character, is

and a cure follows by a few days use of this article: it is far before any other preparation for this disease, or for any other disease originating from impure blood. See pamphlet.

DEBILITY OF THE SYSTEM,

weak back, weakness of the Kidneys, &c., or inflammation of the same, is immediately relieved by a few days use of this medicine, and a cure is always a result of its use. It stands as

for such complaints, and also for derangements of the female frame

painful menstruations. No article has ever been offered except this which would touch this kind of derangements. It may be relied upon as a sure and effective remedy, and did we feel permitted to do so could give as proof of cures in this distressing class of complaints. See pamphlet. All broken down, debilitated constitutions from the effect of mercury, will find the bracing power of this article to act immediately, and the poisonous mineral eradicated from the system.

ERUPTIVE DISEASES

will find the alterative properties of this article

PURIFY THE BLOOD,

and drive such diseases from the system. See pamphlet for testimony of cures in all diseases, which the limits of an advertisement will not permit to be named here. Agents give them away; they contain 32 pages of certificates of high character, and a stronger

ARRAY OF PROOF

of the virtues of a medicine, never appeared. It is one of the peculiar features of this article that it never fails to benefit in any case, and if bone and muscle are left to build upon let the emaciated and lingering invalid

HOPE ON,

and keep taking the medicine as long as there is an improvement. The proprietor would

CAUTION THE PUBLIC

against a number of articles which come out under the head of SARSAPARILLAS, SYRUPS, &C.

as cures for Dropsy, Gravel, &c. They are good for nothing and concocted to gull the unwary;

TOUCH THEM NOT.

Their inventors never thought of curing such diseases till this article had done it. A particular study of the pamphlet is earnestly solicited.

Agents and all who sell the article are gratuitously. Put up in 30 oz. bottles, at $2; 12 oz. do at $1 each—the larger holding 6 oz. more than two small bottles.—Look out and not get imposed upon. Every bottle has "Vaughn's Vegetable Lithontriptic Mixture," blown upon the glass, the written signature of "G. C. Vaughn" on the directions, and "G. C. Vaughn, Buffalo, stamped on the cork." None other are genuine. Prepared by Dr. G. C. Vaughn, and sold at the Principal Office, 207 Main street, Buffalo, at wholesale and retail. No attention given to letters unless post paid—orders from regularly constituted Agents excepted; post paid letters, or verbal communications soliciting advice, promptly attended to, gratis.

Cash for 20,000 Bushels OF WHEAT,

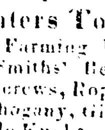

At the Empire Mills.

WE are prepared to pay Cash and the Highest Price for 20,000 bushels of good merchantable Wheat.

Farmers and Teamsters will save themselves much trouble and expense by driving directly up to the STONE MILLS and unloading; they will always get the highest price, and avoid the annoyance of being pestered by the barkers and whipper snappers from the stores, who now infest our streets and are such a bore to all who bring wheat to our market. We are not much given to boasting, but as some of our neighbors are talking of wanting 50,000 bushels of wheat, we would inform wheat raisers that we can take in 20,000; as our Mill, besides being the best, is the biggest, the highest, and the strongest in the country. We have a convenient WAGON-YARD and STABLE, for teams coming to the Mill, and a HOT STOVE for the Teamsters; we always furnish feed for the horses, and occasionally throw in Supper and Breakfast for their drivers. This is nothing new with us—we have always thought it our duty to do so, and should not now mention it if our neighbors had not set the example.

We keep constantly on hand FLOUR OF THE BEST QUALITY and all kinds of Mill Stuff; and promptly grind every thing in the shape of Custom Work—always excepting White Oak Tan Bark, or the "Tree of the Peet."

THE "HABEAS CORPUS."

☞ This tale is a sequel to "The Contested Marriage," published in the Sentinel a few weeks ago. Some of the characters introduced, it will be noticed, are the same.

In the month of February of the year following that which witnessed the successful establishment of the claim of Sir Harry Compton's infant son to his magnificent patrimony, Mr. Samuel Ferret was travelling post with all the speed he could command towards Lancashire, in compliance with a summons from Lady Compton, requesting, in urgent terms, his immediate presence at the castle. It was wild and bitter weather, and the roads were in many places rendered dangerous, and almost impassible, by the drifting snow. Mr. Ferret, however, pressed onwards with his habitual energy and perseverance; and in spite of all elemental and post-boy opposition, succeeded in accomplishing his journey in much less time than, under the circumstances, could have been reasonably expected. But swiftly as, for these slow times, he pushed on, it is necessary I should anticipate, by a brief period his arrival at his destination, in order to put the reader in possession of the circumstances which had occasioned the hurried and pressing message he had received.

Two days before, as Lady Compton and her sister, who had been paying a visit to Mrs. Allington at the Grange, were returning home towards nine o'clock in the evening, they observed, as the carriage turned a sharp angle of the road leading through Compton Park, a considerable number of lighted lanterns, by persons apparently in eager but bewildered pursuit of some missing object. The carriage was stopped, and in answer to the servant's inquiries, it was replied that Major Brandon's crazy niece had escaped from her uncle's house; and although traced by the snow-tracks as far as the entrance to the park, had not yet been recovered. Mrs. Brandon had offered a reward of ten pounds to whoever should secure and reconduct her home; hence the hot pursuit of the fugitive, who, it was now supposed, must be concealed in the shrubberies. Rumors regarding this unfortunate young lady, by no means favorable to the character of her relatives as persons of humanity, had previously reached Lady Compton's ears; and she determined to avail herself, if possible, of the present opportunity to obtain a personal interview with the real or supposed lunatic.—The men who had been questioned were informed that only the castle servants could be allowed to search for the missing person, either in the park or shrubberies; and that if there she would be taken care of, and restored to her friends in the morning. The coachman was then ordered to drive on; but the wheels had not made a dozen revolutions, when a loud shout at some distance, in the direction of the park, followed by a succession of piercing screams, announced the discovery and capture of the object of the chase. The horses were urged rapidly forward; and ere more than a minute had elapsed, the carriage drew up within a few yards of the hunted girl and her captors. The instant it stopped, Clara Brandon, liberating herself by a frenzied effort from the rude grasp in which she was held by an athletic young man, sprang wildly towards it, and with passionate entreaty implored mercy and protection. The young man, a son of Mrs. Brandon's by a former husband, immediately re seized her; and with fierce violence endeavored to wrench her hand from the handle of the carriage door, which she clutched with desperate tenacity. The door flew open, the sudden jerk disengaged her hold, and she struggled vainly in her captor's powerful grasp.

'Save me! save me!' she frantically exclaimed, as she felt herself borne off. 'You who are, they say, as kind and good as you are beautiful and happy, save me from this cruel man!'

Lady Compton, inexpressibly shocked by the piteous spectacle presented by the unhappy girl—her scanty clothing soiled, disarrayed, and torn by the violence of her struggles; her long flaxen tresses flowing disorderly over her face and neck in tangled dishevelment;—and the pale, haggard wild expression of her countenance—was for a few moments incapable of speech. Her sister was more collected; 'Violet,' she instantly remonstrated, 'do not permit this brutal violence.'

'What right has she or any one to interfere with us?' demanded the young man savagely. 'This girl is Major Brandon's ward, as well as neice, and shall return to her lawful home! Stand back,' continued he, addressing the servants, who at a gesture from Miss Dalston barred his progress. 'Withstand me at your peril!'

'Force her from him,' exclaimed Lady Compton, recovering her voice. 'Gently! gently! I will be answerable for her safe custody till the morning.'

The athletic fellow struggled desperately; but how ever powerful and determined, he was only one man against a score, nearly all the bystanders being tenants or laborers on the Compton estates; and spite of his furious efforts, the menaces of law and vengeance, Clara was torn from him in a twinkling, and himself hurled with some violence prostrate on the road. 'Do not let them hurt the man,' said Lady Compton, as the servants placed the insensible girl in the carriage, (she had fainted;) 'and tell him if he has really any legal claim to the custody of this unfortunate person, he must prefer it in the morning.'

Immediately on arrival at the castle, the escaped prisoner was conveyed to bed and medical aid instantly summoned. When restored to consciousness, whether from the effect of an access of fever producing temporary delirium, or from confirmed mental disease, her speech was altogether wild and incoherent—the only at all consistent portions of her ravings being piteously iterated appeals to Lady Compton not to surrender her to her aunt-in-law, Mrs. Brandon, of whom she seemed to entertain an overpowering, indefinable dread. It was evident she had been subjected to extremely brutal treatment—such as, in these days of improved legislation in such matters, and greatly advanced knowledge of the origin and remedy of cerebral infirmity, would not be permitted towards the meanest human being, much less a tenderly-nurtured, delicate female. At length, under the influence of a composing draught, she sank gradually to sleep; and Lady Compton having determined to rescue her, if possible, from the suspicious custody of her relatives, and naturally apprehensive of the legal difficulties which she could not doubt would impede the execution of her generous, if not somewhat Quixotic project, resolved on at once sending off an express for Mr. Ferret, on whose acumen and zeal she knew she could place the fullest reliance.

Clara Brandon's simple history may be briefly summed up. She was the only child of Mr. Frederick Brandon, who, a widower in the second year of his marriage, had since principally resided at the 'Elms,' a handsome mansion and grounds which he had leased of the uncle of the late Sir Harry Compton. At his decease, which occurred about two years previous to poor Clara's escape from confinement, as just narrated, he bequeathed his entire fortune, between two and three thousand pounds per annum, chiefly secured on land, to his daughter; appointed his elder brother, Major Brandon, sole executor of his will, and guardian of his child; and in the event of her dying before she had attained her majority—of which she wanted, at her father's death, upwards of three years—or without lawful issue, the property was to go to the major, to be by him willed at his pleasure. Major Brandon, whose physical and mental energies had been prematurely broken down—he was only in his fifty-second year—either by excess of hard service in the east, perhaps both, had married late in life the widow of a brother officer, and the mother of a grown-up son.—The lady, a woman of inflexible will, considerable remains of a somewhat masculine beauty, and about ten years her husband's junior, held him in a state of thorough pupilage; and unchecked by him, devoted all her energies to bring about, by fair or foul means, a union between Clara and her own son, a cub of some two or three-and-twenty years of age, whose sole object in seconding his mothers views upon Clara was the acquisition of wealth. According to popular surmise and report, the young lady's mental infirmity had been bro't about by the persecutions she had endured at the hands of Mrs. Brandon, with a view to force her into a marriage she detested. The most reliable authority for the truth of these rumors was Susan Hepley, now in the service of Lady Compton, but who had lived for many years with Mr. Frederick Brandon and his daughter. She had been discharged about six months after her master's decease, by Mrs. Major Brandon, for alleged impertinence; and so thoroughly convinced was Susan that the soon afterwards alleged lunacy of Clara was but a juggling pretence to excuse the restraint under which her aunt-in-law, for the furtherance of her own vile purpose, had determined to keep her, that although out of place at the time, she devoted all the savings of her life, between eighty and ninety pounds, to procure 'justice' for the ill-used orphan. This article, Susan was advised, could be best obtained of the lord chancellor; and proceedings were accordingly taken before the keeper of the king's conscience, in order to change the custody of the pretended lunatic. The affidavits filed in support of the petition, were, however, so loose and vague, and were met with such positive counter-allegations, that the application was at once dismissed with costs; and poor Susan—rash suitor for 'justice'—reduced to absolute penury. These circumstances becoming known to Lady Compton, Susan was taken into her service; and it was principally owing to her frequently iterated version of the affair that Clara had been forcibly rescued from Mrs. Brandon's son.

On the following morning the patient was much calmer, though her mind still wandered somewhat. Fortified by the authority of the physician, who certified that to remove her, or even to expose her to agitation, would be dangerous, if not fatal, Lady Compton not only refused to deliver her up to Major and Mrs. Brandon, nor to allow them to see her. Mrs. Brandon, in a towering rage, posted off to the nearest magistrate to demand the assistance of peace officers in obtaining possession of the person of the fugitive. The functionary would, however, only so far comply with the indignant lady's solicitations, as to send his clerk to the castle to ascertain the reason of the young lady's detention; and when his messenger returned with a note, enclosing a copy of the physician's certificate, he peremptorily decided that the conduct of Lady Compton was not only perfectly justifiable, but praiseworthy, and that the matter must remain over till the patient was in a condition to be moved. Things were precisely in this state, except that Clara Brandon had become perfectly rational; and but, for an irrepressible nervous dread of again falling into the power of her unscrupulous relative, quite calm, when Mr. Samuel Ferret made his wished for appearance on the scene of action.

Long and anxious was the conference which Mr. Ferret held with his munificent client and her interesting protegee, if conference that may be called in which the astute attorney enacted the part of listener only, scarcely opening his thin, cautious lips. In vain did his eager brain silently ransack the whole armory of the law; no weapon could he discern which afforded the slightest hope of fighting a successful battle with a legally appointed guardian for the custody of his ward. And yet Mr. Ferret felt, as he looked upon the flashing eye and glowing countenance of Lady Compton, as she recounted a few of the grievous outrages inflicted upon the fair and helpless girl reclining beside her—whose varying cheek and meek and suffused eyes bore eloquent testimony to the truth of the relation—that he would willingly exert a vigor even beyond the law to meet his client's wishes, could he but see the road to a safe result. At length a ray of light, judging from his suddenly gleaming eyes, seemed to have broken upon the chambers of his brain, and he rose somewhat hastily from his chair.

'By the by, I will just step and speak to this Susan Heply, if your ladyship can inform me in what part of the lower regions I am likely to meet with her.'

'Let me ring for her.'

'No; if you please not. What I have to ask is of very little importance; still to summon her here might give rise to surmises, reports and so on, which it may be as well to avoid. I had much rather see her accidentally, as it were.'

'As you please. You will find her somewhere about the housekeeper's appartments. You know her by sight, I think.'

'Perfectly; and with your leave I'll take the opportunity of directing the horses to be put to the carriage. I must be in London by noon to-morrow if possible!' and away Ferret bustled.

'Susan,' said Mr. Ferret a few minutes afterwards, 'step this way; I want to have a word with you. Now, tell me, are you goose enough to expect you will ever see the money again you so foolishly threw into the bottomless pit of chancery?'

'Of course I shall, Mr. Ferret, as soon as Miss Clara comes to her own. She mentioned it only this morning, and said she was sorry she could not repay me at once.'

'You're a sensible girl, Susan, though you did go to law with the lord chancellor! I want you to be off with me to London; and then perhaps we may get your money sooner than you expect.'

'Oh, bother the money! Is that all you want me to go to London for?'

Mr. Ferret replied with a wink of such exceeding intelligence, that Susan at once declared she would be ready to start in ten minutes at the latest.

'That's a good creature; and Susan, as there's not the slightest occasion to let all the world know who's going to run off with you, it may be as well for you to take your bandle and step on a mile or so on the road, say to the turn, just beyond the first turnpike.' Susan nodded with brisk good humor, and disappeared in a twinkling.

An hour afterwards, Mr. Ferret was on his way back to London, having first impressed upon Lady Compton the necessity of immediately relieving herself of the grave responsibility she had incurred towards Major Brandon for the safe custody of his ward by sending her home immediately. He promised to return on the third day from his departure; but on the nature of the measures he intended to adopt, or the hopes he entertained of success, he was inflexibly silent; and he moreover, especially requested that no one, not even Miss Brandon, should know of Susan Hoply's journey to the metropolis.

Mr. Ferret, immediately on his arrival in town, called at my chambers, and related with his usual minutes and precision as many of the foregoing particulars as he knew and thought proper to communicate to me. For the rest I am indebted to subsequent conversation with the different parties concerned.'

'Well,' said I as soon as he had concluded, 'what course do you propose to adopt?'

'I wish you to apply on this affidavit, for a writ of habeas ad sub., to bring up the body of Clara Brandon. Judge Bailey will be at Chambers at three o'clock; it is now more than half-past two, and I can be off on my return by four at least.'

'A writ of habeas!' I exclaimed with astonishment. 'Why, what end will that answer! The lady will be remanded, and you and I shall be laughed at for our pains.'

This writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum, I had better explain to the non-professional reader, is the great prerogative writ, the operation of which is sometimes suspended by the legislature during political panics. It is grounded on the principle that the sovereign has at all times a right to inquire, through the judges of the superior courts, by what authority his or her subject is held in constraint. It issues, as a matter of right upon the filing of an affidavit, averring that to the best of the belief of the deponent the individual sought to be brought up is illegally confined; and it is the essence of the proceeding, that the person alleged to be suffering unlawful constraint should actually be brought before the 'queen herself;' that is, before one or more of the judges of the court which has issued the writ, who, if they find the detention illegal, the only question at issue upon this writ, may discharge or bail the party. It was quite obvious, therefore, that in this case such a proceeding would be altogether futile, as the detention in the house of her guardian, under the sanction, too, of the lord chancellor, the ex officio custodier of all lunatics—of a ward of alleged disordered intellect—was clearly legal, at least prima facie so, and not be disturbed under habeas ad sub., at all events.

'Perhaps so,' replied Ferret quite coolly in reply to my exclamation: 'but I determined to try every means of releasing the unfortunate young lady from the cruel thraldom in which she is held by that harridan of an aunt-in-law. She is no more really insane than you are; but at the same time so excitable on certain topics, that it might be perhaps difficult to disabuse the chancellor or a jury of the impression so industriously propagated to her prejudice. The peremptory rejection by her guardian of young Buford's address, though sanctioned by her father; you know the Bufords?'

'Of Grosvenor Street you mean—the East India director?'

'Yes, his son; and that reminds me that the declaration in that ever-lasting exchequer case must be filed to-morrow. Confound it, how this flying about the country put me out! I thought some one had kidnapped her son, or fired Compton Castle at least. By the way, I am much deceived if there isn't a wedding there before long.'

'Indeed!'

'Yes, Miss Dalston with Sir Jasper's eldest hope.'

'You don't mean it?'

'They do at all events, and that is much more to the purpose. A fine young fellow enough, and sufficiently rich too.'

'All which rambling talk and anecdote,' cried I interrupting him, 'means, if I have any skill in reading, Mr. Ferret, that that gentleman having some ulterior purpose in view, which I cannot for the moment divine, is determined to have this writ, and does not wish to be pestered with any argument on the subject. Be it so; it is your affair, not mine. And now, as it is just upon three o'clock, let me see your affidavit.'

I ran it over. 'Rather loose this, Mr. Ferret, but I suppose it will do.'

'Well, it is rather loose, but I could not with safety sail much closer to the wind. By the by, I think you had better first apply for a rule to stale proceedings against the bail in that case of Turner; and after that is decided, just ask for this writ, off-hand as it were, and as a matter of course. His lordship may not then scrutinize the affidavit quite so closely as if he had thought counsel had been brought to chambers purposely to apply for it.'

'Cautious, Mr. Ferret! Well, come along, and I'll see what I can do.'

The writ was obtained without difficulty; few questions were asked; and at my request the judge made it returnable immediately.—By four o'clock, Mr. Ferret, who could fortunately sleep as well in a postchaise as in a feather bed, was, as he had promised himself, on his road to Lancashire, where he had the pleasure of serving Mr. Brandon personally; at the same time tendering in due form the one shilling per mile fixed by the statute as preliminary travelling charges. The vituperative eloquence showered upon Mr. Ferret by the major's lady was, I afterwards heard, extremely copious and varied, and was borne by him, as I could easily believe, with the most philosophic composure.

In due time the parties appeared before Mr. Justice Bailey. Miss Brandon was accompanied by her uncle, his wife, and a solicitor; and in spite of everything I could urge, the judge, as I had foreseen, refused to interfere in the matter. The poor girl was dreadfully agitated, but kept, nevertheless, her eyes upon Mr. Ferret, as the source from which, spite of what was passing around, effectual succor was sure to come. As for that gentleman himself, he appeared composedly indifferent to the proceedings; and, indeed, I thought seemed rather relieved than otherwise when they terminated. I could not comprehend him. Mrs. Brandon, the instant the case was decided, clutched Clara's arm within hers, and followed by her husband and the solicitor sailed out of the apartment with an air of triumph, disdain and pride. Miss Brandon looked around for Ferret, but not perceiving him—he having left hastily an instant or two before—her face became deadly pale, and the most piteous expression of hopeless despair I ever beheld broke from her troubled but singularly expressive eyes. I mechanically followed, with a half-formed purpose of remonstrating with Major Brandon in behalf of the unfortunate girl, and was by that means soon in possession of the key to Mr. Ferret's apparent inexplicable conduct.

The Brandon party walked very fast, and I had scarcely got up with them as they were turning out of Chancery lane into Fleet street when two men, whose vocations no eye could for an instant mistake, arrested their further progress. "This lady," said one of the men, slightly touching Miss Brandon on the shoulder, "is, I believe, Clara Brandon?"

"Yes, she is; and what of that, fellow?" demanded the major's lady, with indignant emphasis.

'Not much, ma'am,' replied the sheriff's officer, 'when you are used to it. It is my unpleasant duty to arrest her for the sum of eighty-seven pounds endorsed on this writ, issued at the suit of one Susan Hepley.'

'Arrest her!' exclaimed Mrs. Brandon; 'why she is a minor!'

'Minor or major, ma'am, makes very little difference to us. She can plead that hereafter, you know. In the meantime, Miss, please step into this coach,' replied the officer, holding the door open.

'But she's a person of unsound mind,' screamed the lady; as Clara, nothing loath, sprang into the vehicle.

'So are most people that do business at our establishment,' responded the imperturbable official, as he shut and fastened the door. 'Here is my card, sir,' he added addressing the attorney, who came up. 'You see where to find the lady, if her friends wish to give bail to the sheriff, or, what is always more satisfactory, pay the debt and costs.' He then jumped on the box, his follower got up behind, and drove the coach, leaving the discomforted major and his fiery better half in a state of the blankest bewilderment.

'Why what, is the meaning of this?' at length gasped Mrs. Brandon, fiercely addressing the attorney, as if he were a particeps criminis in the affair.

'The meaning my dear madam, is, that Miss Clara Brandon is arrested for debt, and carried off to a sponging house; and that unless you pay the money, or file bail, she will to-morrow be lodged in jail,' replied the unmoved man of law.

'Bail! money! how are we to do either in London, away from home?' demanding the major, with, for him, much emotion.

I did not wait to hear more, but almost suffocated with laughter at the success of Ferret's audacious ruse hastened over to the Temple. I was just leaving chambers for the night—about ten o'clock I think it must have been—when Ferret, in exuberant spirits, burst into the room.

'Well, sir, what do you think now of a writ ad sub?'

'Why, I think, Mr. Ferret,' replied I, looking as serious as I could, 'that yours is very sharp practice; that the purpose you have put it to is an abuse of the writ; that the arrest is consequently illegal; and that a judge would, upon motion, quash it with costs.'

'To be sure he would: who doubts that? Let him and welcome! In the meantime Clara Brandon is safe beyond the reach of all the judges and chancellors that ever wore horse hair, and that everlasting simpleton of a major and his harridan wife, roaming the metropolis like distracted creatures: and that, I take to be the real essence of the thing, whatever the big wigs may decide about the shells.'

'I suppose the plaintiff soon discharged her debtor out of custody?'

'Without loss of time, you may be sure.—Miss Brandon, I may tell you, is with the Rev. Mr. Derwent, at Brompton. You know him; the newly married curate at St. Margaret's that was examined in that will case. He is an intelligent, high-principled man; and I have no doubt that, under his and Mrs. Derwent's care, all trace of Miss Brandon's mental infirmity will disappear long before she attains her majority next June twelve month; whilst the liberal sum per month which Lady Compton will advance, will be of great service to him.'

'That appears all very good. But are you sure you can effectually conceal the place of her retreat?'

'I have no fear; the twigs that will entangle her precious guardians in the labyrinths of a false clue are already set and limed. Before to morrow night they will have discovered, by means of their own wonderful penetrative sagacity that Clara has been spirited over to France; and before three months are passed, the same surprising intelligence will rejoice in the discovery that she expired in a maison de santé—fine comfortable repose, in which fools' paradise I hope to have the honor of awakening them about next June twelve month, and not as at present advised, before!'

Everything, fortunately, turned out just as Mr. Ferret anticipated; and when a few months had glided by, Clara Brandon was a memory only, save of course to the few who were entrusted with the secret.

The whirligig of time continued as ever to speed on its course and bring round in due season its destined revenges. The health, mentally and bodily of Miss Brandon rapidly improved under the kind and judicious treatment of Mr. and Mrs. Derwent; and long before the attainment of her majority, were pronounced by competent authority to be thoroughly re-established. The day following that which completed her twenty-first year, Mr. Ferret, armed with the necessary authority, had the pleasure of announcing to the relic of Maj. Brandon (he had been dead some months,) and to her brutal son, that they must forthwith depart from the home in which they, to the very moment of this announcement, tho't themselves secure; and surrender every shilling of the property they had so long dreamt was their own. They were prostrated by the intelligence, and proved as mean and servile in the hour of adversity, as they had been impudent and cruel in the day of fancied success and prosperity. The pension of three hundred pounds a year for both their lives, proffered by Miss Brandon, was eagerly accepted; and unreturned to the security from which they had by accident emerged.

About six months afterwards, I had the pleasure of drawing up the marriage settlements between Clara Brandon and Herbert Buford; and a twelve month afterward, that of standing sponsor to one of the lustiest bairns ever sprinkled at a font, none of which delightful results, if we are to believe Mr. Ferret, would have ever been arrived at had not he, at a very critical moment refused to take counsel's opinion upon the virtues, capabilities, and powers contained in the great writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum.

☞ Since the removal of the faithful postmasters and their assistants, in the large eastern offices, and the appointment of incompetent and unqualified persons in their stead, the receipt of our eastern papers has been very irregular. The Baltimore papers, which formerly came regularly, now arrive one, two, three, and even four days after they are due. So of the New York papers. Where the blame for this delinquency should be laid, we know not, but if the Postmaster General and his newly appointed agents, were to devote less time to the work of chopping off the heads of faithful subordinates, and more to the legitimate business of their offices, it would doubtless be of great benefit to the public, if not to the hungry cormorants for office.—New Albany Democrat.

☞ We see similar complaints in almost all our exchanges; and that they are well founded is abundantly proved by our own experience. The mails are more irregular and uncertain now than we have ever known them to be at this time of the year. Old Zack's honest, capable, and efficient postmasters are certainly far behind their unfortunate predecessors who were removed for "cause."

MISMANAGEMENT OF THE MAILS.—Complaints are made all over the country, of the irregularity of the mails. It has happened more than once since Mr. Collamer has been Postmaster, that the Southern papers have not reached us until the third or fourth day after they were due. The mails from the East are often missing. This scarcely ever occurred during former administrations. The papers every where are grumbling. The following is taken from a Taylor paper, the New York Herald, which is one of many:—Baltimore American.

MISMANAGEMENT OF THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.—We have adverted already to the numerous complaints about the mismanagement of the Post Office Department, which are made in all quarters. It appears that the department itself cries "peccavi," and confesses its delinquencies. We have received the following document, which is quite significant:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
Appointment Office, July 23, 1849.

SIR: The editorial in your paper of the 21st has received the attention of the Post Master General, and the corrective applied, to prevent the recurrence of such errors in future. The Postmaster in this city excuses his office on the ground that the office was in much confusion, in consequence of repairs which were being made in the internal arrangements of the same.

Very respectfully, yours, &c.,
FITZ HENRY WARREN,
Second Assistant Postmaster General.
JAS. GORDON BENNETT, Esq., N. Y.

* * * * *

This state of things can't last long. The management of the Post Office Department is in a wretched condition. We have before us a bundle of our papers of Sunday week, which was mailed for Fishkill, in this State, on that day, and was taken out of the New York post office on Wednesday last! This is one fact out of many. We have much more to say on this subject.

Is this the reform we heard so much of before the election?

From the manner our exchanges from all parts of the Union reach us, we should judge that other post offices, besides that at Washington, was "in much confusion," but no portion of the Department need "repairs" so much as the Postmaster General and his Fitz Henry Warren assistent. The one has shown himself to be utterly incompetent—the other has been proven a knave by the "documents."—Ohio Statesman.

A Touching Incident.—Another Ophelia.—We find in the St. Louis Republican, of the 28th ult., the following affecting history of some fair but unfortunate unknown, who, perhaps, has friends and relatives in her own native Germany, unapprized of her pitiful condition in a foreign land. There is something of the wildly romantic about the story, which must touch a heart of adamant:

At the quarantine ground there is a pitiable, yet curious case of insanity, and one which demands the interference of some one, for the subject of it is a female.

The person alluded to is a woman apparently about thirty years of age. She goes by the name of Catharine, and when she can be kept still long enough to say anything rational, gives her name as Catharine Weber.—We have made several efforts to gather her history from her, but have always failed, possibly because we have had to use an interpreter, and she talks rapidly, and frequently incoherently. The most rational story is, that she is from Germany—has been three months in the United States—has a brother, Adam Weber, a watchmaker, who, she sometimes says left her in Cincinnati, and at others that he left her in the mountains of Pennsylvania. She says that Mr. Angelrodt knows her family and connexions, and that she has relatives living either in Potosi or Mine La Motte, but it is difficult, from her incoherent manner to determine which place. She is entirely destitute, and provision should be made for her.

She is a harmless creature, and might be said to be more idiotic than crazy. She roams over all the ground, visiting every bed, especially the sick, and seems to have a very correct idea of those who are going to die. A few minutes before death occurs, she is there, stands by them, and when they die, she is very officious in closing their eyes, laying the bodies out, and fixing their limbs in proper position. This done, she goes out, and from the shrubs she weaves a wreathe, which she insists upon being placed on the corpse. She sees it placed in the coffin, and is particularly captious and nice to see that the lid is fitted down right; then follows to the grave as chief mourner. At the grave, she has another wreathe to lay on the coffin; this deposited, (and the men all yield to her fancies,) she waits until the grave is filled, and then for a full half an hour she stands on or by the grave chaunting hymns and songs. She sings with a good, clear voice. She is up nearly all hours of the night and day; and whenever a boat arrives or departs, she stands upon the river bank chaunting her songs. She is mild, always engaged in some work, either sweeping the ground or making tea or something for the sick.

A melancholy Story.—On the 14th ult., Mrs. Barnett, of Prairieville, Missouri, set out, in company with her neice and nephew, to visit the daughter of a friend who was ill. After traveling about two miles they discovered a cloud rising, and determined to stop at the house of an acquaintance near by, until the cloud should pass over. But at that moment a young man rode up and informed them that the young lady was not expected to live through the ensuing night. This determined Mrs. Barnett to go on with him, leaving her neice and nephew to follow on after the storm which was fast approaching. Immediately after the rain had ceased, which was about an hour from the time of their stopping, the neice and nephew resumed their journey, and in about a mile they came upon the dead bodies of their aunt and the young man, Mr. George Wells, together with their horses lying by the road side, all having been killed by lightning. The screams of the young lady brought to the scene of death several neighbors, when every effort was made to resuscitate them, but in vain. Mrs. Barnett has left to mourn her loss a father, two sisters, an interesting little daughter and an affectionate husband, now on an expedition to California. The work of death did not stop here, (says the Lynchburg, Virginian.) Just after dark of the same evening the sick lady referred to, Miss Maria Louisa Roberts, who but a week before was in the bloom of youth and health, bid adieu to all that was earthly.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Our city yesterday was in a state of great excitement, owing to the shocking occurrence at Princeton, N. J., on the Camden and Amboy Railroad. The train of cars which left this city at 6 A. M. yesterday, was thrown off the track, about one mile from that city, on account of the switch having been left open. We learn from a gentleman who reached the scene of the accident in the train from New York, that the spectacle was a most harrowing one. The locomotive had been thrown into the canal, bottom upwards—the baggage crates were also immersed in the water—and the first long passenger car was partly suspended over the bank of the canal, thus arresting the course of the second car—and then, dreadful to relate, the third car was raised to the platform of the second, passing completely through it—sweeping off the seats and the passengers, and thus presenting, at first sight, the appearance of but one car—killing two persons instantly in its course and terribly wounding and maiming others. The marvel is that a solitary individual escaped.—Pennsylvanian.

The Fort Wayne Sentinel.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 25, 1849.

☞ Wright's majority for Governor of Indiana is upwards of 9,700. We will publish the full official returns as soon as received.

Cholera in Fort Wayne.—The cholera has been raging with considerable severity in this city for the past week, but we are happy to be enabled to state that it appears to be subsiding, there having been few new cases yesterday or to-day.

On Sunday night last the disease assumed an epidemic form, three or four cases having occurred on what is termed "The Hill"—an elevated ridge in the south east part of the city. Several additional cases occurred on Monday and Monday night, most if not all of which proved fatal. Up to Wednesday there had been about 20 deaths, all within the space of two or three blocks. The disease, so far, has been confined almost entirely to the region where it first originated, and that is the highest, most airy, and what is usually supposed most healthy part of the city.

Most of those residing in this "infected district" have removed. We do not hear that many others have fled from the city, and we must do our citizens the justice to say, that they have thus far exhibited a very commendable degree of fortitude and calmness.

Yesterday, we believe, there were only two or three new cases, and about the same number to-day. We have therefore some reason to hope that the disease has spent its force, and with due prudence and precaution on the part of our citizens, will soon dissappear.

We give below a full list of the interments at the burial grounds during the week:

At the Catholic Burial Ground,

Anthony Witte, aged 4 years.
Henry Witte, " 6 "
Mary Ross, " 28 "
Elizabeth Duhman, " 25 "
Christian Dinklage, " 28 "
Henry Fechtmann, " 35 "

At the City Burial Ground,

Wife and 2 children of John Kime,
H. Radaker, wife, and son,
Miss Deweese,
Rudolph Barger,
Stephen Pierson,
Mrs. Swain,
Son and daughter of Jos. Johnson,
Mrs. Guenther and child,
Mrs. Landres.

This list is up to yesterday morning.—Since then there has been 4 more buried, whose names we have not obtained. This makes 25 in the two burial grounds. In addition to these Mrs. Hitzfield, wife of Louis Hitzfield, and Miss Harriet Coleman were buried in the country—making in all 27 deaths. This we believe is the total number who have died in the place during the week.

The Catholic clergy have converted one of their schools into a hospital, where the sick of all denominations are carefully attended to.—There have been 13 patients, of whom 1 has died and 3 been cured. The remainder, with perhaps one or two exceptions, are in a fair way of recovery.

FOR CALIFORNIA. We learn that Captain Asa Fairfield of this city, who is now in the East for the purpose of making arrangements for the "Fort Wayne and California Mining and Trading Company," has procured a new vessel, well provided with fine airy state rooms, which will sail from Boston on the 25th of October.

The company is about full, and active preparations are now being made for a departure at the time specified.

From the B'hoys.—Within the past few days letters have been received from several of the California emigrants from this place. Mr. John Briggs and Mr. Bowser write from San Francisco, announcing their safe arrival, and stating that they would depart for the diggings on Feather River in a few days. The accounts from the diggings were quite favorable, and the gold represented to be fully as abundant as the most flattering accounts had described.

Letters have also been received from Mr. Joseph Miller and Mr. Barnes, who left here about two years ago for Oregon. Nothing previously had been heard from them, and it was feared they had perished on the route.—Miller has bought a large farm in Oregon, near Oregon City, but is now in California with his sons, young Costello, and Barnes. Both he and Barnes give favorable accounts of the abundance of gold in California.

By letters received from Mr. Bartlett and Mr. G. E. Smith, we learn that the parties to which they are attached reached Fort Laramie early in June—all well. They had not experienced any particular hardships on the route, and were all in high spirits.

Look out for Burglars.—Several houses in this city were entered on Wednesday night last, but fortunately the rascals did not get much for their pains—in the whole not more probably than $15 or $18. It would be well for all to look to the fastenings of their doors and windows before retiring for the night: and it might not be amiss to prepare a warm reception for the miscreants in case of a visit.—A lead pill, aided in its operation by a powder composed of saltpetre, sulphur and charcoal, properly administered, would effectually cure their propensity to make these nocturnal visits.

The New York Democracy.—No Reunion.—The conventions of the Hunker and Barnburner factions of the democratic party in New York, held this week, have adjourned without effecting a compromise or reunion.—The Hunkers passed a resolution against slavery, and at the same time declaring their opposition to its being made a party test, in any form or under any circumstances. This the barnburners would not agree to; and a proposition made by them to go into a joint convention, form one State organization, and nominate a ticket to be supported by both, was in like manner rejected by the Hunkers. The conventions have adjourned without effecting a compromise, and the Empire State is abandoned to the whigs. We cannot believe that either of the factions have much regard for the principles of the democratic party, and we look upon the whole squabble as a mere struggle on the part of the leaders of the adverse factions to secure to themselves the control of the party in the State. Unless the rank and file cut loose from these leaders, they had better leave the democratic ranks and call themselves by some other name. They will no longer be worthy to bear the honored name of democrats.

Cholera in Sandusky City.—The Sandusky Mirror gives a report of the interments in that sorely-afflicted place from July 9th to Aug. 8th. The whole number amounts to 320.—The population of the place is 5,667; but it is estimated that not more than 3000 remained during the prevalence of the cholera. One tenth therefore were swept off by the pestilence.

CANADIAN ANNEXATION.—The British American League.—We have already stated by telegraph that this convention at Kingston, Canada, has decided on recommending the permanent consolidation of the Provinces into a Federal Union, and design putting forth an address to that effect. We note that annexation is rarely mentioned, or even hinted at.—The New York Express says:—

"Some of the members, it is true, have spoken of the good which might result from such a measure, but this has been rather to intimidate both the public authorities at home, and in England, than with any serious purpose of consummating such a union.

"The convention itself seems to be made up of the disaffected of both parties, and numbers in all, perhaps, 150 delegates. They have been in session six days, and commenced with closed doors and a prayer. A proposition allowing any member to speak disrespectfully of the Queen and Governor-General, or the rules of Parliament, forbidding any one thus to speak, was lost by a small majority. On Friday, the doors were thrown open, and speeches made for protection to Canadian manufacturers. The members made up an odd compound of good, bad and indifferent, but there seems to be in it much more of the bad than the good. We do not see any thing of a really Republican feature in the whole body."

The New York Tribune says:

"A. Wilson, the reputed author of a series of essays for getting rid of British connexion, has a seat. Wilson moved for a democratic elective Senate, and got nine votes. The cloak of loyalty is expected to pay as yet, and a new loan from England (never to be repaid) is confidently hoped for. Those who cried Annexation last April, sing of Loyalty like so many cuckoos. The League appears to be an effort of the outs to agree upon a plan by which they may obtain for themselves and adherents a new lease of "the best gifts of the crown."

A dispatch from Montreal, August 1st, says that the League has adopted an order to reassemble at the same time and place with the next Canada Parliament. Various resolutions were passed, but nothing important done.—The American flag was hoisted and pulled down. Thus ends Canadian annexation for the present.

Queen Victoria and the Canadian Indemnity Bill.—Sir Allen McNab, now in England, writes home to his friends who are raising such a disturbance in Canada, that things look more promising to them England. If his statements are to be relied on, he has been successful in bringing the English government to a pause in their demonstration of favor towards Lord Elgin and his French supporters. He writes that orders have been sent not to pay a cent of indemnity to any former rebel. The Queen, he says, suspends action on the question of approving the indemnity bill, and a motion is to be made in the House of Commons for the production of the petitions sent from Canada to the Home government for the disallowance of the indemnity bill, and the recall of Lord Elgin. This can hardly be expected after the stand already taken by the British government, and its approval of Lord Elgin's course.—Albany Knickerbocker, August 7.

DEATH OF ALBERT GALLATIN.—The Telegraphic reports of this morning announce the death of this venerable and venerated statesman, who died in New York yesterday morning. His age approached near a century, and of him it may be truly said, he "died full of honors and years." He was, at the time of his death, the oldest surviving member of the previous cabinets,—having enjoyed the confidence of "the early Presidents." He held the distinguished post of Secretary of the Treasury under Mr. Jefferson, and was continued in the same office by Mr. Madison. The most prominent service he ever performed was as a member of the Treaty Commission at Ghent, in connection with Mr. Adams and Mr. Clay, the latter of whom is now the only surviving member, of this important Commission.

Mr. Gallatin retained his faculties unimpaired until the last, and took a lively interest in public affairs, frequently exercising his pen in disquisitions upon matters of public policy.—Cincinnati Dispatch.

THE MAILS—THE MAILS.—Among the inflictions of poor Job, that of being an editor in these days of the "Collamer-morbus," of which disease, cutting off heads, and a derangement of the mails are the symptoms, and the ballot-box the remedy, was spared him.

We are tired of losing our best exchanges, or of getting them days and weeks after they are due; and tired, too, of reading the interminable complaints of similar evils which befal our editorial brethren in all parts of the Union.

With a heavy exchange, we scarce get a handful of papers by the great Eastern and Western mails—two thirds of our exchanges manage to come up missing each day, and it so happens that those we most need are the most certain to be lost.

For such disarrangement, there is a cause, and that cause is to be traced to the utter incompetency or dishonesty of a large number of the newly appointed postmasters, appointed to the station, not on account of fitness, but as a reward for partizan service.—O. Statesman.

Truman Smith—His Circular and his Sorrows.—Truman Smith, the modern atlas upon whose shoulders the administration has placed itself in order to be carried over its violated pledges in triumph, thus writes to the Indianians, a short time before the late election:

"I have understood that some disaffection has been felt in your State by reason of the impression, more or less prevalent that the new administration has not done justice to Indiana. I beg to assure you, if there is any foundation for such an idea, it is not my fault."

The returns of the late election shows that there was 'some dissatisfaction' as Truman says, for the Democratic Governor and Lieut. Governor have somewhere in the neighborhood of Ten Thousand of a majority, and the Legislature is more Democratic than ever before.

Again Truman in the same circular says:

"My position would be somewhat embarrassing in urging a favorable consideration of your claims, if your State shall return a delegation equally hostile to the new administration. If the whigs of Indiana shall act in their usual lofty and patriotic spirit, I am confident the result of the election will be alike creditable to the State and auspicious to the whole country."

Truman's position is "somewhat embarrassing" no doubt, as the whipper in for the administration, he promised to wheel our Hoosier neighbors into line, but they are made of different stuff from what Truman supposed. The State has repudiated Taylorism, and the result is "alike creditable to the State, and auspicious to the whole country." Poor whiggery is knocked into a cocked hat, and poor Truman into a noncuity.—Ohio Statesman.

☞ The Charleston News does not approve of annexing Canada to the United States.—It hints at various considerations for opposing an extension of our territory in that direction, but the fact that there are no slaves in that province is not mentioned among them.

Awful attempt at Self Destruction.—The Dayton Journal gives the following account of a rash attempt of a young lady in that city, to rid herself of existence. We should judge by the amount of green corn with other vegetables of a like character, which the greenhorns of this city carry home "cool as a cucumber," a great many rash attempts at self-destruction are made in a similar manner in this city.

We understand that a young lady of this city, respectably connected, accomplished and beautiful, attempted self destruction yesterday. She seemed to be in remarkable fine spirits, and nothing in her conduct during the day had excited the remotest suspicion of her terrible design. About four o'clock in the afternoon she went into the garden and soon returned with something in her apron. She then went to the kitchen, and was there alone nearly an hour, apparently busy about some ordinary culinary employment. There was nothing unusual in this, and the family paid no attention to her. At a quarter after five, her mother thought it was about time to begin the preparation of supper, and entering the kitchen for that purpose, beheld a spectacle easier imagined than described. There sat her daughter, young, beautiful, and in 'perfect health,' gnawing away at a huge ear of green corn, with the dismantled cobs of two others by her plate!

"We learn from the Doctor, this morning, that she is 'able to be about the house,' but the motive of her conduct is a profound mystery. He inclines to think she must have been 'tired of life.'"

Federal Whig Sentiments. The following is the language of Saml. W. Parker, the whig candidate for Congress in the 4th district of this State, one of the great guns of whiggery in Indiana. It was published in a newspaper some years ago, of which he was the editor:

"The time now is, if there ever was or will be a time, when true-hearted American freemen should awake and bestir themselves.—The country is literally alive and swarming with ignorant Foreigners.—men who were born and lived all their days under the iron and ignominious sway of Kings and Priests,—men who from their King-ridden and Priest-ridden ignorance, if not from their absolute wickedness, can be as little trusted with the intellectual immunities of an American citizen as an infant child can be with the keeping of a blazing firebrand in a magazine of powder! Foreign Kings for their safety at home and the contamination of Republicanism, and the Pope of Rome for pushing on the conquest of the Whore of Babylon, are throwing thousand upon thousands of these besotted and reckless creatures upon our shores every week. The vote of such a slave of Kings and the Pope, will weigh just as much and count just as much in the ballot-box, as that of the native-born American. * * * It is absolutely heart sickening for the patriotic native-born American citizens to visit one of our large cities and witness the multitude of these wretches who swarm through the streets and infest every dark corner and dirty hovel, ignorant of everything but abject obedience to haughty Lords and tearless Priests. It makes one feel like a foreigner, though treading the soil upon which he was born,—it makes him feel like a stranger, though sitting in his own house by his native hearth-stone,—and above all, it makes him feel that a mighty deluge is pouring over his land which is destined to drown and utterly overwhelm those liberties and that holy religion which his fathers bequeathed to him in letters of blood."

The following most scandalous toast was given at the celebration of the 4th, in Chicopee, Mass.

Our Fire Companie—may they be like old maids, always ready, yet never wanted.

We will bet a tin tip that the fellow who gave that toast was "always ready, yet never wanted," and moreover, that he will never be otherwise.

Another Patriot brought to the Block.

We learn from a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun that the chivalrous and heroic Gen. Lane—the Marion of the Mexican war—has been removed from the office of governor of Oregon, and a Mexican whig by the name of J. H. Marshall, of Indiana, appointed to succeed him. Can this be the act of Gen. Taylor! We cannot believe it. We cannot believe that he would remove a soldier as distinguished nearly as himself, and who had won laurels as green as his own. Yet the deed has been done, to the disgrace of the administration, and to the dishonor of the man who nominally stands at its head. Is no honorable service, no deeds of noble daring, no wounds in the country's service, to protect the patriots who risk their lives in battle, from hence and vindictive persecution of these friends of Great Britain and Mexico who have stolen into power by a once honored name!—Let the people rise up and rebuke such monstrous ingratitude to our country's defenders—such base perfidy to a country's honor.—These iniquitous acts are intolerable, and should be avenged by hurling the party which dares to be guilty of them from the places which they dishonor.—Washington Union, Aug. 11.

The Union finds it difficult to believe in this infamous act of Taylor. Under other circumstances, we should labor under the same doubt. But knowing the jealousy, and consequently the hatred with which Taylor has ever regarded Gen. LANE, especially after the battle of Buena Vista, we have only been surprised that he has delayed the execution of this measure of revenge so long. He did not mean to delay it, when he passed up the Ohio on his way to Washington: for at Madison, as we have it on good whig authority, he swore with an oath that it should be the first of his presidential acts. The delays no doubt, was the result of the advice of our whig leaders, and of the Cabinet Regency which directs all Taylor's acts; and the delay was a prudent one on their part. They had reason to suppose that the people of Indiana would have resented this insult to the State, at the ballot boxes in August. Therefore, instead of removing Gen. Lane before the election, they kept dark in regard to him, and through the President of their outside cabinet, Truman Smith, promised more offices, if the people could be induced to vote for congressmen of the Taylor stripe.

The manner of the act therefore is as mean and cowardly as the act itself; and it corresponds precisely with Taylor's character, as we have always estimated it,—a character very deficient indeed in all the qualities that mark the gentleman or the generous soldier.

The Union expresses surprise at this removal of "a soldier as distinguished nearly as Taylor himself," &c. We think that was one of the strongest reasons for Lane's removal, as the strongest incentive of Taylor's original jealousy and hatred of him. Lane, be it remembered, was a Volunteer General; and Taylor hated the volunteers, from the highest to the lowest, from the beginning to the end of the war. And now, if the Union will observe carefully, it will discover, that almost, if not quite all, of the soldiers, who had been appointed to civil office by President Polk, as some acknowledgement of their patriotism,—but who have since been turned out of these offices with Taylor's assent,—belonged to the Volunteer portion of the army. We do not believe that Taylor entertained an idea on this subject, in any degree more liberal than might be expected to characterize the meanest of the Russian Generals. Men are to be hired to fight for pay, and to become subject to tyrannous discipline, without murmuring, under penalty of death; officers fight for personal advancement as well as plunder. These are Taylor's notions; and of course he has no respect for the patriotism which marks the volunteer. Of course also, Taylor hated Lane all the more intensely, because of Lane's extraordinary generosity of character as a man, and his impetuous courage and bravery as a soldier.

Under such circumstances, instead of the removal of Lane being a disgrace to him, it is the highest honor which the mercenary Taylor could possibly confer upon him. The disgrace and dishonor attach wholly to Taylor, and it will stick to him like a coat of tar and feathers, which, in our cool and deliberate opinion, he deserves to wear.—State Sentinel.

THE BOUNDARY COMMISSIONERS.—By the following letter published in the New Orleans Picayune it will be seen that the Mexican Commissioner, General Condee has at length made his appearance at San Diego, where Colonel Weller the Commissioner on the part of the United States has been awaiting his arriva, in order to run and mark the boundary between the two countries, as provided for in the Treaty of Peace. It is unfortunate for the whig editors that Colonel Weller had to wait for the Mexican Commissioner, instead of the Mexican Commissioner waiting for him as falsely charged by the New York Tribune, for political effect, and to pave the way for Colonel Weller's removal. The fact that it was the Mexican, not the United States Commissioner, that was in default, has spoiled a vast amount of whig thunder, and places the Administration who removed Colonel Weller, upon the Tribune's charges of being behind its time, in a predicament supremely ridiculous.

SAN DIEGO, July 3—6 P. M.

The Mexican Commission arrived this morning, from San Blas in an English ship, after a forty days' passage. General Condee is at the head of the Commission. He has a hundred and forty soldiers with him, and forty women, an American omnibus and four horses. Another detachment of troops are on their way by land. A party of dragoons have just escorted Major Emory to the beach to receive the General and bring him up to this place.

A detachment of dragoons are under orders to proceed with Captain Hardcastle, Topographical Engineers, on the 5th, to discover the highest peak of mountains on the range this side of the Colorado.

There is to be a grand celebration here to-morrow in honor of the anniversary of American Independence. Colonel Weller, United States Commissioner, is to deliver an oration, after which there is to be a barbecue, and in the evening a ball. I shall be here to see. I have no time to write more, as the steamer is hourly expected.

Yours, &c. J. E. D.

THE GREAT ADMINISTRATION MARE'S NEST.—We could hardly suppress laughter, yesterday, while reading the President's Proclamation in relation to the invasion of Cuba. It is evidently an administration trick, nothing more, to divert the attention of the people from certain other matters, which just now afford no aid and comfort to the power that be. We refer to the late election.

The administration has been so suddenly let down by the people, wherever the latter have had a chance to do so, and the tide of public opinion is just now setting in so strong against the new Government, that something dark and suspicious, and that which will demonstrate the courage and patriotism of the new administration, must be hatched up to tickle the public ear.

We do not believe one word in this noise about Cuba. There is nothing even probable in it. If there is a move on foot to annex this Island to the United States, by first helping the inhabitants through a revolution, this is not the administration to put down the movement. But the President does not seem to know, exactly, what is on foot. He says,

"There is reason to believe that an armed expedition is about to be fitted out in the United States, with an intention to invade the Island of Cuba, or some of the provinces of Mexico."

Fudge! The Government organ, the Republic, says:

"That bodies of men were in course of being levied and drilled in New Orleans, New York and other cities, that money to considerable amount has been contributed, that arms has been provided, and arrangements made on a large scale with a view to some military expedition. Their movements have been conducted with great secrecy, and the object of the enterprise has been concealed even from individuals who have embarked in it."

"Levying men" and drilling them, and getting their money, without their knowing the "object of the enterprise." Oh flummery!—The whole is a hoax.

It is very strange, too, that the President should leave Washington on a visiting tour at such a time, and have to date his Proclamations along the road, when as the Republic asserts, "this information has been for some time in the possession of the Government."

Try again, gentlemen! This trick won't take in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Missouri, where a few more public demonstrations are soon to come off for the benefit (over the left) of this administration.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

☞ Since the 14th of July ult. seventy-six of the citizens of Eaton, comprising men, women, and children, have died, several non-residents, swelling the number to very near one hundred! All the work of cholera, with two or three exceptions: and this mortality out of a population not exceeding one thousand—making about ten out of every hundred, and averaging three deaths per day.—Eaton Democrat.

The Flight of the Shepherds.—The Lebanon Star, in speaking of the panic that pervaded Eaton, where the cholera has been raging fiercely, says:

We have been informed, that on Fast Day there was not a minister of the Gospel in Eaton—the shepherds, struck with a panic, fled to places of imaginary safety, leaving the sheep to take care of themselves. The deserted congregations all held prayer meetings, and were happily relieved from the terror stricken countenances of their faithless pastors. We trust they will find time, in their retreats, to meditate on the following passages of Holy Writ: "I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge, and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust. Surely He shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night, nor for the arrow that flieth by day; nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness, nor for the destruction that wasteth at noon day. A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee. Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the Most High, thy habitation, there shall be no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. For He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways. With long life will I satisfy him, and show him my salvation." Peradventure an enemy hath stolen these passages from the Bibles of the Eaton clergymen!

Democratic majority on joint balliot, 24!!!

The Draft Protested.—Truman Smith's draft on Indiana has been dishonored. He drew on that State for four whig Congressmen, and but one has been placed to his credit, and he, McGaughey! Truman promised offices in return, but all of no avail. The Hoosiers either doubted his ability to perform, or spurned the bribe. Even the Wayne District has returned an anti Taylor Congressman. In the last Congress there were four whigs from our sister State—there will be but one in the next. Taylorism under Truman Smith's auspices, has progressed most marvellously. It is to be hoped he will not diminish his exertions; the fruits of his labors are so refreshing. This party hack we are told is paid $8 per day for staying at Washington and franking whig documents to those States in which elections were to be held this summer and fall. What better is that than if he were to sell the franking privilege to the whig club at Washington at $8 per day? What a rebuke has he not personally received from Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, all of which States he has been flooding with his franked circulars and electioneering documents! We shall see what effect these rebuffs will have on the vanity and impudence of this political trickster.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

New Territories.—The Baltimore Sun learns that despatches have been received by our Government from California, stating that both these territories will be applicants to the next Congress for admission into the Union. The primary measures necessary for this are now being taken to accomplish the object. New Mexico with its population of 75,000 is already competent for admission, and the population of California is daily increasing. Its permanent population by the next session of Congress will no doubt be sufficient to demand the doors to be opened to its admission among its sister States. This will settle the question which has lately created so much dissension in Congress, in a way that must prove satisfactory to all parties.

Domestic Management of Cholera.

To the Editors of the Cincinnati Gazette:

GENTLEMEN—It is a lamentable fact that the greater portion of deaths from cholera arise from popular ignorance in reference to the disease and its treatment. As the disease is still raging in many parts of the country, I feel it an imperative duty to make known certain facts, which, if they had been appreciated and acted upon in this city from the commencement of the epidemic, would certainly have saved over two thousand lives.

1. It is a great error to rely exclusively upon the physician, and wait for his arrival.—Millions have perished by this error alone.—The patient has not a moment to spare—one hour's delay is often fatal. Every family should be prepared to treat itself: the disease is simple—easily managed if taken in time, and requires neither skill nor scientific learning for its successful management. Any good intelligent nurse could be taught in a single hour all that is necessary to be known for the successful management of an ordinary case of cholera. One of the most successful practitioners in our city was a barber, who, having been supplied with a stock of good cholera medicine, was called upon to administer to the relief of his neighbors, and treated a large number of cases with almost invariable success. Any intelligent citizen who understands the proper method of treating the disease will be far more successful than the most learned physician, who acts upon an erroneous theory, using calomel and the lancet instead of powerful stimulants.

2. Every family has at home all that is necessary to protect itself from cholera without calling upon a physician, or even an apothecary. A teaspoonful of common table salt, and half as much of black pepper ground fine, dissolved in a wine-glass full of vinegar, (of moderate strength,) constitutes a medicine of almost universal application in cases of cholera, cholera morbus, diarrhœa, &c. This medicine has often been tried with success by different practitioners at different times, and in this city it has proved one of the most successful means of treating Asiatic cholera. In the Cholera Hospital of Cincinnati, which has been celebrated for its successful management, this salt and pepper prescription has been fully tested and proved adequate to the control of this disease, for which it was in a number of cases relied upon alone.

If there is any diarrhœa, or tendency to diarrhœa, any rumbling or feeling of looseness in the bowels, or especially if there is any of that feeling of debilitating depression, which is the especial characteristic of cholera, and which alone is a sufficient warning, we should commence by taking a table-spoonful of the above fluid every hour, until our unpleasant symptoms are removed, and the whole digestive apparatus brought up to the standard of health. A dose or two will generally be sufficient; a repetition may be required each day or every other day, if the epidemic influence is strong.

If diarrhœa and other cholera symptoms appear, the medicine should be taken more frequently, as every half hour or every ten minutes, according to the urgency of the symptoms, and aided by external heat, or by applying flannels soaked in hot spirits of turpentine upon the bowels and limbs. The best mode of applying external heat is to wring a blanket out of hot water, (as hot as the attendants can bear to handle,) and after applying this around the naked person of the patient, cover with dry blankets, and change the whole every fifteen or twenty minutes. Let them drink freely of cinnamon, ginger, or spearmint tea, and thus keep him sweating from six to twelve hours, or longer. I do not believe that more than one case in fifty would be lost if these directions were faithfully followed.

A very simple domestic remedy which has also been tested in the cholera hospital, especially upon the physicians and nurses, is lye. A tumbler of weak lye, from fresh wood ashes, generally checks very promptly the premonitory symptoms of cholera. Families who profit by these hints will have but little occasion for medical aid in cholera, and the physician will have but little trouble in curing promptly patients who have taken such a course. Indeed, there is very little danger in cholera when a bold stimulating practice is pursued. Such a practice has been pursued by the Eclectic physicians of this city, and they have lost but about one case in thirty.

As this communication is designed exclusively for domestic practice, I shall say nothing of the management of the cholera by physicians, (a subject which has been fully presented in the Eclectic Medical Journal and the Journal of Man,) and would conclude by requesting editors who wish to assist in saving human life to republish these suggestions, for the benefit of their readers.

JOSEPH R. BUCHANAN.

A remarkable Statement about Cholera.—An eminent physician of Paris, Dr. Ronot, has written to a professional brother in Liverpool, statements so startling in reference to the results of a very simple mode of treating in the worst stage, the disease now so fatally prevalent in Paris, that we deem it our duty at once to lay it before the public. The letter, of which the following is a translation, is dated Paris June 18th:—"I think it my duty to inform my professional brethren, that in a great number of patients affected with cholera in the last stage, that is to say when the pulse is absent, and in the commencement of the blue stage I have succeeded in restoring the action of the heart and recovering the patient from the blue stage by administering at intervals of half an hour four cups of a hot and sweetened infusion of the common lime tree, mint, balm, or chamomile, &c., to each of which cup of infusion were four drops of volatile alkali, making 16 drops, which the patient may take in two hours. The reaction is almost instantaneous. The pulse commences instantaneously to beat, rather irregularly at first it is true, but afterwards with force; the blue state disappears; the body, face and extremities are covered with hot and copious sweat, and in a few hours the patient is entirely out of danger. It is frequently necessary to combat the reaction when it becomes too strong, by the assistance of bleeding."

We notice the marriage of Mr. Day to Miss Field, which presents the singular anomaly,—although he won the Field, she gained the Day!

MARRIED,—On Tuesday last, by Hon. J. H. McMahon, Mr. HUBBARD NICKERSON to Mrs. MARGARET LASURE, both of this county.

VALUABLE

Mill Property for Sale.

THE undersigned offers for sale his Mill Property situate on the Elkhart River, in Noble County, Indiana, 40 miles north west from Fort Wayne and the Wabash and Erie Canal.—The property is now improved with a SAW-MILL, and Head Gates for GRIST and other MILLS. The Dam is one of the best in the country, and has been built only two years, but during that time has will stood without the slightest injury unusual freshets that caused more or less damage to all other dams on the river. The supply of water is unfailing, and sufficient with the head of 7½ feet of driving 4 run of 4½ feet stones, Saw Mill and Woollen Mill at all times, and during most of the year almost any amount of machinery could be propelled.

The Saw Mill has recently been put in first rate order, and is considered one of the best in the west. Logs in any quantity of the best kind such as Poplar, Black Walnut, Ash, Oak, and Cherry, can always be obtained.

The property is situate in the midst of a thickly settled country, where mills are much needed and water power scarce, thereby insuring to the owner a monopoly of the milling business of the country, if well managed.

In connection with the mill and water power, will be sold

on which the mill is situated, together with Timber got out for the erection of a Flouring Mill.

Attorney for prosecuting Claims at Washington.

THE subscriber undertakes the collection, settlement, and adjustment of all manner of Claims, Accounts, and Demands against the Government of the United States, or any foreign state or country; before Commissioners, before Congress; or before any of the Public Departments.

The procuring of Patents, Army and Navy Pensions, Bounty and other Land Claims, Soldiers' Dues, Drawbacks, the collection of accounts against the Government, and every demand or other business of whatever kind, requiring the prompt and efficient services of an attorney or agent.

A residence of many years at the seat of the federal government, with a thorough and familiar acquaintance with the various systems and routine of public business at the different offices and in Congress; added to this, free access to consult the ablest legal advisers if needed, justifies the undersigned in pledging the utmost satisfaction and utmost dispatch to those who may entrust their business to his care.

Being well known to the greater part of the citizens of this district, and to many gentlemen who have been members of both Houses of Congress in the last twelve years, it is deemed needless to extend this notice by special reference.

Communications must be pre-paid in all cases.

Charges or Fees regulated by the nature and extent of the business, but always moderate.

Address, H. C. SPALDING,
6x7 Attorney, Washington, D. C.

"THE SABBATH WAS MADE FOR MAN."

Barbers are Men; therefore the Sabbath was made for Barbers.

Willis Elliot to his Customers, Greeting:

Gentlemen:—It has been my sincere desire to give satisfaction in my humble though important calling, to all my patrons; my door has been opened at all times, and on all days, for your accommodation; and I am very thankful for the extensive patronage with which I have been favored.

I shall continue to perform my duties faithfully, and in the best style at all times hereafter, except on Sunday; that day I have resolved to keep as a day of rest. Will you sustain me in this resolution? I hope you will.

My motto, in future, is all be "sink or swim," starve or grow fat, I'll shave no more on Sunday!"

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
WILLIS ELLIOT.

A CALL.

ALL persons indebted to us by Note, Book Account, or otherwise, are requested to make immediate payment at the office of the late Receiver, over our old store, where there will be a person in constant attendance for a short time to settle with all who will favor us with a call.—This notice is intended for no person in particular, but for "every body" indebted to us, and we hope none will consider themselves excused.

We shall attend to this matter but a short time personally, when the accounts will be handed over without reserve to proper officers for prompt collection. Duty to our creditors as well as ourselves demand this course, and when it is borne in mind that we have never yet sued one of our customers, we trust our past lenity will prompt a ready response to this call.

JAMES G. BLAINE, A. M., Adjunct Professor of Languages.
REV. J. R. SWIFT, A. M., Professor of Ethics and Belles Lettres.
JAMES H. DAVIESS, Esq., Professor of Law.
REV. H. V. D. NEVIUS A. M., Principal of the Academy.
CAPT. C. E. MOTT, Teacher in the Academy.
CAPT. W. W. GAUNT, Adjutant of the Institute.

*Educated at West Point. †Educated at the Virginia Military Institute.

Two hundred and thirty Cadets, from fifteen different states, have entered this Institution since it was organized, in 1847. It is entirely free from the control or domination of any sect or party, either political or religious. Economy in dress, in the adoption of a cheap Uniform, for Winter and Summer, is rigidly enforced. Every student is required to select a College guardian, with whom all funds brought or received must be deposited, and no debt must be contracted without the consent of such guardian.

An Institution combining the science of the West Point Academy and of Polytechnic Institutes, with the classical literature of our best Colleges, adding the modern languages, and superadding practical schools of Law and Engineering, nearly realizes the long-felt desideratum of a university able to meet the wants of Western progress—a university where all may select a course of study to suit their time, means and professional destination.

Mr. Daviess, the Professor of Law, is known in the various Courts as a practitioner of great ability, varied learning, long experience and exalted character. His eminent qualifications, the wholesome exercise and discipline of the Institution, and the convenient observation of the forms of judicial proceedings, offer unusual inducements to those who are earnest to achieve distinction as sound lawyers.

CIVIL ENGINEERING

Will be thoroughly and practically taught in the Western Military Institute—the Professor, Col. Morgan, being one of the most skillful and experienced Engineers in the United States. All the instruments connected with that department, have been procured at considerable cost, and of the best quality.

The superintendent takes the liberty of stating that he is now offered seventy-five dollars per month for competent assistant Engineers. One of his former pupils receives at this time $2,500 per annum as Principal Engineer of a Railroad now under construction in Kentucky—whilst others of the same class are receiving in different parts of the United States, $2000, $1500, and $1000 a year as assistant Engineers.

The time is rapidly approaching when there will be a great demand for such as have been prepared for that vocation at the Western Military Institute. Nothing is hazarded in saying that they will readily command $1200 or $1500 per annum. Every man of observation must see that the gigantic enterprise already proposed, will give birth to hundreds of others, tributary to them. The rapid advancement of our whole country, and the eagerness of our people for exploring the hidden resources of the new States and the newly acquired territory, will give ample scope for ages to come, to the skill and enterprise of the Engineer, the Geologist, the Mineralogist, the Surveyor, and the Architect. Young men who have an aptitude for the Mathematical and Physical sciences, will have a wide field opened to them for engaging in an honorable, a healthful and a lucrative pursuit, for which they may be thoroughly and practically qualified, in a short time, and at small expense, at the Western Military Institute.

TERMS:

In the Academy,	$30 00	per annum.
In the College,	40 00	″
For music and use of arms and accoutrements	3 00	″
For fuel,	2 00	″

Boarding can be had in private families, at from two to two and a half dollars a week. When in Barracks, it is designed to furnish Commons at a uniform rate. Students from a distance will be required to board at the Institute, and have no communication with the town, except as allowed by written permits.

☞ The next session will commence on the first of September and continue ten months.

Valuable Farm for Sale.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, for Cash, a valuable farm on the St. Mary's river, near the Bluffton road, and within two miles of Fort Wayne. The property consists of one hundred and nine acres of land, seventy five acres of which are under cultivation; a good frame dwelling house of two stories, an excellent frame barn with stables below, and other out buildings; and a young orchard of choice grafted fruit.

This farm, from its location and other advantages offers uncommon inducements to any desirous to purchase. The farm will be sold cheap as the owner is about to leave the country.

HOUGH & TURNER.
Fort Wayne Mar 31, 1849. 39.

R. W. OAKLEY,

THANKFUL for the favors of the past, would respectfully inform his old customers and the public generally that his Fall and Winter supply has in part arrived, and is still coming; so that by the close of navigation all demands for the season can be promptly filled.

STOVES.

We place the "IMPERIAL AIR TIGHT" first; because we consider them decidedly foremost in the way of all stoves.

The "UNITED STATES AIR TIGHT" is next, tho' many consider them equal, if not superior to those above—and with them may be classed the Washington and Troy Air Tights and the Clarkenboss Air Tights, of Albany.

PREMIUM STOVES.

Among the different kinds of Premium Cooking Stoves we have the "Troy Victory," to the excellent qualities of which all who have ever tried them will readily attest. We selected them as the best premium stove in market, and the increased demand for them induced us to bring on a large assortment. We have also the common premiums from Buffalo and Cincinnati, and last though not least, the "Farmer," with no roses or superficial ornaments, but as well recommended that any one wishing a stove can take it, and bring it back again if it does not work well. Last, & least in the Cooking line stands the great "Hathaway," of Dayton, which we keep on hand for the especial benefit of those who prefer this to a better article.

Parlor Stoves of Cast or Sheet Iron. Dining Room Stoves, Shop and Store Room Stoves of all varieties and sizes from a meeting house to a 10 by 12.

In connection with our Stove trade we have added a small but well selected assortment of Castings and Hardware.

Consisting in the main of all the most essential and necessary articles used by farmers and mechanics.

Our Tin and Copper business is still as noisy as ever, and all hands ready and happy to wait upon those who desire anything in our line. R. W. OAKLEY.

In Advance of the Telegraph!

W. SMITH & Co., No. 3 Jones' Block, respectfully inform the Ladies that they have just received their

SPRING STOCK

Of New and Fashionable GOODS,

embracing every thing really desirable in the Eastern markets, and which will be sold at prices to Beat the Jews!

The Ladies are invited to call and examine this splendid stock, for exceeding any thing ever brought to the place. Their are peculiarly rich and becoming; their stock of Bonnet Ribbons, is beyond comparison the best ever seen in the west; and as for Lawns, Ginghams, DeLaines, Calicoes, &c., &c., the half of what might truly be said about them would not be believed. Therefore a general invitation is extended to all to call and judge for themselves.

SEEING IS BELIEVING.

P. S. Beware of WANDERING JEWS, unless you wish to be shaved: you can buy a good genuine article at No. 3 for considerably less than the small pox pedlers charge for their damaged, imperfect, spurious, flimsy articles, which are made to sell and not to wear.

NEW ARRIVAL

At the Ohio Cash Store.

AYLSWORTH & BORDEN are now receiving their SPRING & SUMMER GOODS suitable for the market, which have been selected with a view to durability and fast colors. Having purchased many of them from first hands, thereby saving one profit, they will resell at a small advance, and even cheaper than others are selling inferior goods. We are desirous that all goods sold by us should give entire satisfaction, as it regards durability and prices. The goods have been purchased in New York, and not in Cincinnati where several of our merchants have made their purchases, and we are confident that we can sell goods in Fort Wayne as cheap as they do in Cincinnati. This is an important fact to be remembered by those who purchase goods in this city. Our stock is new and fresh, we have a great variety of

of the latest styles, consisting in part of silk and Linen berages brocade linen lustres, fancy, English, Scotch, French, and hair cloth ginghams, balzarines, lawns, figured and plain jaconets every variety of prints. Also a large stock of French and English cloths, cassimeres, cashmeretts, croton cloth, plain and figured satin vestings, figured and plain satin de chene vestings, fancy do; plain Marseilles vestings, Kentucky and canton jeans, summer cloth, cottonades, stripes, &c. A large stock of gloves and hosiery of every description.

BONNETS—Beautiful French braid bonnets, French lace mourning do; Rough and Ready, China, pearl, leghorn, and English straw do; Misses Jenny Lind do, open braid and leghorn flats, ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS of every variety, mourning sprigs; also a splendid stock of

HATS—Fashionable silk hats, English, Bagota, and Rutland, do Pedal, and plain and colored leghorn; also a magnificent stock of BOOTS AND SHOES.—Ladies' black and colored walking and dress gaiters, Congress half gaiters, Excelsiors, slippers and walking shoes. Misses' gaiters, slippers and morocco boots, children's shoes of every description and size.

Carpets and Rugs.

We have in store fine ingrain and Venitian carpets, Wilton and tufted rugs, Brussels carpet bags and satchels. We would also say to the public that we have made extensive arrangements with a house in New York, to enable us to open a carpet room, where we will during the course of the summer receive a large and splendid stock, and shall keep constantly on hand every variety of carpeting used in the West, together with oil floor cloths, matting, druggets, rugs, &c., and will sell them as cheap as a single carpet can be purchased in Cincinnati, or a small advance over New York costs.

We are daily expecting a large stock of sheetings and domestic goods, Hardware, Queensware, Groceries, &c., shipped by the Erie Canal.

WANTED—All kinds of Produce the Farmer has to dispose of in exchange for goods, at the lowest cash prices. We will take all the butter offered at the highest market price.—Don't forget the place, in Hamilton's block. Store formerly occupied by Thomas Hamilton, second store from the corner. Thankful for the liberal patronage heretofore received, we are determined to sell our goods very cheap, that we may merit the continuation of the same.

S. BEAL informs Tavern and Grocery Keepers, dealers in Liquors, and the public in general, that he has enlarged his Rectifiers, and is now prepared to furnish any quantity of superior at the lowest prices. He has also just received large stock of choice

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC

which he can warrant to be superior and FAR CHEAPER than can be purchased short of the Eastern Cities. A call and inspection of his stock and prices will convince all good judges that they will both by laying in their supply at this establishment.

Save Money and gratify the taste of their Customers

He has now on hand choice articles of pure old French Cognac Brandies, Port Wine, Rum, Gin, &c. for Medicinal use, warranted genuine and pure as imported, which he offers lower than has been paid for the adulterated articles usually sold in this market.

His stock includes

Pure old A. Seignette Brandy	Pure Juice Port Wine
″ ″ Marett and Cheriayer ″	Durand's ″
″ ″ A. Seignette ″	Other brands ″
J. J. Dupuy ″	Sweet Malaga ″
Several fine Domestic ″	Madeira
Old Cherry	Native
Jamaica Rum	Kimel
St. Croix ″	Superior Rectified Whiskey
Old Holland Gin	Old Rye ″
Rose ″	East India Bitters
Wheeler's ″	Stoughton
American ″

Also, Decanters, Tumblers, Bottles, Loaf Sugar, &c. All Brandies, Wines, and Glass will be sold from 20 to 50 per cent. Cheaper than has ever been sold in this market.

Persons wanting any quantity—from a quart to a barrel—of Wines or Liquors will do well to call, as they may depend on every article being exactly what it is represented, and at the lowest rates at all times.

SLOAN'S COLUMN.

☞ All the Medicines advertised by W. B. Sloan are sold by merchants, Druggists, &c. in nearly every town in all the Western States and by Dr. L. Beecher, Fort Wayne.

The best and cheapest Horse Medicine in the World.

SLOAN'S OINTMENT AND CONDITION POWDER, have earned a great name. For Purity, Mildness, Safety, Certainty and Thoroughness, Sloan's Ointment excels, and is rapidly superseding all other Ointments and Liniments now in use for the cure of the following diseases:

Fresh Wounds, Galls of all kinds, Sprains, Bruises, Cracked Heels, Ringbone, Windgalls, Poll Evil, Callus, Spavins, Sweeney, Fistula, Sitfast, Strains, Lameness, Sand Cracks, Foundered Feet, Scratches or Grease, Mange, or Horn Distemper.

The Powder will remove all inflammation and fever, purify the blood, loosen the skin, cleanse the water, and strengthen every part of the body; and has proved a sovereign remedy for the following diseases: Distemper, Hide Bound, loss of Appetite, Inward Strain, Yellow Water, Inflammation of the Eyes, Fatigue from hard exercise; also, Rheumatism, (commonly called stiff complaint,) which proves so fatal to many valuable horses in this country. It is also a safe and certain remedy for coughs and colds which generate so many fatal diseases.

W. B. SLOAN.
Grand Depot, 40 Lake St., Chicago, Illinois.

The Proof.

Extract from the Galena "Northwestern Gazette."

☞ By the use of Sloan's Ointment and Condition Powder, I have entirely cured a fistula on a horse and otherwise improved his condition more than 500 per cent., on the cost of the medicine. And a cow which was so feeble as to be considered worthless by myself and neighbors, was restored to good health and strength, by the use of less than half a package of the powders, and is now doing better than any other cow I have. WM. VINCENT.

Small Pox, May 13, 1848.

THE SUFFERING CHILD.

I hereby certify that one of my children when naked, fell into a large fire of live coals, and was burned severely from head to foot. The best of medical aid and attention was given to the child for four or five days without any relief—each day's suffering increased till its groans could be heard at a great distance, at which critical period one of my neighbors recommended and presented to me a box of SLOAN'S OINTMENT, and in less than fifteen minutes after the application of the Ointment to the aggravated sores of the suffering child, the pain ceased entirely, and he speedily began to recover. My residence is in Helt Township, Vermillion county, and State of Indiana.

THEODORE L. CAYLOR.
Dated at Chicago, Aug. 24, 1848.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE.

April 13th, 1848. Four miles north of Chicago, (on the road to Milwaukie,) Cook County Illinois.

Mr. Sloan—Dear Sir: One of my horses had a large bony tumor on his breast bone, immediately under the collar, which turned him and rendered his services of very little value. I then procured Wilder's Celebrated Horse Ointment, and used that until I became fully satisfied that it would never relieve the animal. Finally I obtained a box of your truly valuable Ointment, and in less than sixty days from the first application the tumor entirely disappeared, and the horse was well.

Yours, Edward Armstrong.

POPULAR OPINION.

If popular opinion is any criterion of the worth of an article, we invite the incredulous to read at least a few of the many voluntary certificates that appear in our columns respecting the great variety of remarkable cures effected by the use of "Sloan's Celebrated Ointment and Condition Powders."

These remedies no longer remain one grain of doubtful utility; they have passed from the tide of experiment, and now stand higher in reputation and are becoming more extensively used than all other articles of the kind.—[illegible] City News.

The half has not been told.

Fox River, June 12,

Dr. Sloan—Sir: Please send by the bearer a new supply of your Horse Medicines. They are the best of the kind that I have ever used, never having been disappointed in their effects. I have been in the use of other, even all the most celebrated Ointments, Liniments, &c., of the day. I like very much this feature in them, that they do all that is promised, and after a thorough trial one is constrained to say, that "half has not been told."

Respectfully, M. Du[illegible]

THE DIFFERENCE.

The ordinary Ointments and Liniments it is well known, are severe and partial in their operation. Sloan's Ointment is mild yet thorough—it reaches and removes the cause, hence it gives real and permanent relief.

For purity, mildness, safety, certainty, and thoroughness, Sloan's Ointment excels, and is rapidly superseding all other Ointments and Liniments now in use.

WE CAN'T GET ALONG WITHOUT IT.

Bemis's Grove, Will Co., Ill.
October 24, 1848.

Mr. Sloan—

Sir: I have tested the virtue of your Ointment in the cure of rattlesnake bites, sore [illegible] horses, and many other injuries, and in every case it has surpassed our expectations. As a family Ointment, I have never seen its equal, and for beasts we can't get along without it.

Yours, &c., Miles M. Jou[illegible]

Excellent Ointment.

Mr. Sloan—Dear Sir: For a considerable length of time I was seriously afflicted with a Rheumatic complaint, and applied freely various liniments, pain killers, &c., without obtaining relief. After which your Agent at this place influenced me to try your Ointment, and within two weeks from the time I commenced using it, the pain ceased, and I was effectually cured, and shall recommend all who are similarly afflicted with the distressing complaint, to procure your excellent ointment without delay.

Respectfully yours, Oscar F. Mott.
Princeville, Peoria Co., May 1, 1848.

☞ From the Hon. H. V. S. Brooks, Agent of the Illinois and Michigan Canal Packet Boat Company.

Chicago, June 24, 1848.

Dr. W. B. Sloan—

Dear Sir: For the last 30 years I have had occasion to use many horses, and have used a great variety of Liniments and Ointments, but have never found any thing equal to your Ointment for injuries on horses. Within the last two months I have applied your Ointment to some 20 horses, for various injuries, and in every instance it has proved a sovereign remedy.

A FINGER BITTEN ENTIRELY OFF.

Two miles south of Chicago, Sept. 14,

Dr. Sloan—Sir: On the 8th instant my son had a finger bitten entirely off by a horse. We immediately applied your celebrated Ointment, which relieved him of pain in a few minutes, prevented the finger from swelling the least particle, and the wound is healing rapidly.

12 Respectfully yours, S. Brow[illegible]

Stoves, Stoves, Stoves!

MORE of the latest styles and most improved patents in the way of HOT AIR COOKING STOVES, are now arriving at the Old Stand.

SIGN OF THE PAD LOCK.

From the following descriptions it will be seen that exertions the proprietor of this establishment is constantly making to supply the public with the latest improvements in the line of his business.
He now offers for sale the splendid 4 Boiler

Niagara Hot Air Cooking STOVE.

Warranted to economise fifty per cent in the amount of fuel it uses, and the time it take to boil or bake, over any other stove in use in this or any other country.
The next is the same man's patent of 3 Boiler

Niagara Hot Air Cooking Stove.

which take in nearly three feet wood, with all the advantages of the other. (See plate above.)
These Stoves took the first premium at a recent fair of the Erie County agricultural society, New York.
Next comes the good old EMPIRE HOT AIR COOKING STOVE, which is so well known in this country, with two ovens, one being portable. Also, the

Hathaway Hot Air Cooking Stove,

the excellent qualities of which will be readily testified to, by a number of families in Fort Wayne, who have them in use,—the proprietor's own family being one of that number. The next is another new stove called the

which is now having a great run in the East; and no doubt will run quite as fast out West, as soon as it is seen and its qualities understood.
Then comes the Premium Cooking Stoves all sizes;
The Noncondensing Hot Air Parlor Stoves;
The Ten and Seven Plate Stoves:
All of them are made of the best and heaviest Castings, and are

Warranted to stand fire.

without breaking.
After these, comes the Russia Sheet Iron Parlor Office Stoves, made to order, any size that may be wanted.
TIN WARE manufactured and sold wholesale at Eastern prices. Country merchants will find it to their advantage to call here for their supplies of this article.
Tin Plate, Sheet Copper Sheet Iron and Block Tin kept constantly on hand and for sale to the trade, at the New York Hardware Store, sign of the Pad Lock.

No Cure No Pay.

I Would inform the world that I have a Remedy for curing or healing Ruptures, without any pain in the operation, and without even seeing the place thus ruptured. Some of the wise and learned may laugh and scorn at the proposition, but don't be too fast, this is no new fiction, my father has practised the Remedy over forty years in the East, and I have cured three persons myself. I give this to the public, because I believe it to be my duty to do all the good I can to my fellows. WM. IBA.
And I would also request editors of papers in the Country to make a short paragraph of the above in their sheets, and by so doing they will confer a blessing on some of their patrons. 6m38

Protection

Fire & Marine Insurance Company.

THE subscriber has been appointed an Agent of the Protection Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., at Fort Wayne, Indiana, and is authorized to

Insure Dwelling Houses, Stores, Warehouses, Mills, Manufactories, Barns, Stables,

and the contents of each, together with every other similar species of property

Against loss or damage by Fire.

The subscriber is also authorized to issue Policies on the most favorable terms

Against loss or damage on the cargoes of Steam, Keel, Canal, and Flat Boats, while navigating the Western Rivers, Lakes, and Canals.

On account of the liberal patronage heretofore extended to said Company, they have been enabled greatly to reduce their rates of Insurance, so that now every man has an opportunity, for a trifling sum, to protect himself against the ravages of these destructive elements.
For terms of Insurance, apply to the subscriber, at the office of Hough & Turner, on Calhoun street, north of the Spencer House.
R. D. TURNER.

Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company,

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING BEEN appointed an agent for said company, is authorized to make every kind and manner of Insurance appertaining to Life Risks, for a certain number of years or for life, grant annuities, and confer endowments.
The provisions of the charter of said company are peculiarly favorable to the assured—containing many important privileges, which experience has proved may be safely granted, and which are deemed superior to any heretofore offered in this country.
Married women may insure the lives of their husbands, secure from the demands of creditors,
Creditors may insure their debtors, or debtors themselves, for the benefit of creditors.
The assured after a term of years, may at any time surrender the policy and receive its equitable value in cash.
The subject of Life Insurance is attracting much attention in the Eastern States, and commends itself to the favorable consideration of all, as by this means a comfortable support may be left to the wife and children when misfortune comes upon them, and the husband and father is taken from their embrace by the cold hand of death.
Pamphlets explanatory of the uses and benefits arising from Life Insurances, will be furnished those wishing to be insured.
The undersigned is also agent for the HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, HARTFORD, CONN.

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA.

There is no real occasion for sickness!

Dr. Ralph's Pills,

FOUNDED on the only principle on which a UNIVERSAL MEDICINE can safely and conscientiously be recommended to the world. They are fast superceding every other remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Acidity, Heartburn, Costiveness, all Impurities of the blood, Biliousness, Liver Diseases, Fever & Ague, the diseases of WESTERN CLIMATE, &c. The reason is obvious—they act in
PERFECT ACCORDANCE WITH NATURE.
Their operation is exceedingly mild and pleasant, and if taken in accordance with the directions, which are remarkably plain and clear,
THEY CANNOT FAIL TO CURE
and to perfectly prevent disease of every kind (see explanation of the new theory in the 'Ralphian' an invaluable paper which may be had gratis of the agents.) Their unexampled success in all the complaints of FEMALES, and those also attending pregnancy, is acknowledged by thousands.
NO FEMALE SHOULD BE WITHOUT THEM.
Testimonials of cures, of every disease the human system is liable to, often after all other means had failed, are consequently being received at the Central Office, N. Y. City.
Price 25 cents a box, with full directions, and Family packages at $1, (in which is much saving.)
J. B. Hanna, Fort Wayne, having been appointed general agent, will supply this celebrated medicine, wholesale and retail, on the same terms as at the Central Office.
June 13, 1848. 39
Read the following testimony from W. W. Steevens, principal of the Classical & Commercial Academy, Fort Wayne, Ind.:
"Having had repeated opportunities for the last fourteen years of witnessing the great benefits various persons have derived from the use of Doctor RALPH'S PILLS, and knowing Doctor RALPH to be a graduate of the University of Edinburg, a member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, and of the Medical College of the State of New York; also a Physician of Long, Extensive and successful Practice, I cordially recommend said Pills to all who may be afflicted with diseases for which the Pills are recommended, believing they will perform all that is promised for them if the directions for using them be strictly followed.
W. W, STEEVENS.
Fort Wayne, July, 1848.
"DEAR SIR: In compliance with your request I would state that I have used Doctor RALPH'S PILLS in my family for something like ten years; and am satisfied that they are an excellent family Medicine. I have no doubt but that the use of them has at different times saved myself and family much sickness and expense.
HUGH MILLER."
To J. B. HANNA.
The above Pills can be had at wholesale of J. B. HANNA, General Agent at Fort Wayne.
They are also sold at retail by A. B. Miller, Ligonier; E. D. Bartlett & Co., La Grange Centre; C. R. Walker, Fort Wayne; DeFrees, Wolf Lake; Peter Heller Eel River; Robert Dykes, Ontario; J. N. Alleman, May's Mills; L. S. Bayless, Bayless's Mills.

THE IMMENSE

Mineral Wealth of California

HAS induced thousands to abandon the comforts of home and brave the hardships and horrors of a trip across the Rocky Mountains, or the perils of a passage round Cape Horn, all of which may now be avoided, and as fine a chance found of making money at home. It is an old adage that a penny saved is two pence earned; there is no trouble in making money here, the only thing is, to keep it after it comes. This may in a great measure be accomplished by buying at where goods can be had so cheap that all who make all their purchases there can fail to save enough to make themselves rich, and that too without running the risks necessary to pick up gold on the Sacramento.

B. MASON'S Celebrated Cheap Store,

A large stock of SPRING & SUMMER GOODS has just been received, including a beautiful assortment of

Fancy Dress Goods,

Silks, Bareges, Linen Lawns Linen Poplins, Lawns Gingham Lawns, White Lawns, Swiss Mulls, Plaid Mulls and Jaconetts, Victoria Lawns, Nankeens, Calicoes, &c. White and Red Crape, Embroidered Crape, Berage, and Silk SHAWLS. Parasols—a splendid assortment. Fans of every variety. Ladies' and Gents' Gloves. Leghorn, Palm Leaf, and Straw Hats. Besides all kinds of staple goods, such as Shirtings, Sheetings, Checks, Drillings, and all sorts of Summer Wear.
It is needless to say more than that the stock now on hand at this establishment fully equals all former ones, and is offered at even less than Mason's unrivalled low prices. Call and satisfy yourselves.
The stock of GROCERIES is large, and all of the choicest quality—nothing else is ever kept, and they will be sold as Cheap or CHEAPER than the inferior articles offered in some of the blowing gas-houses in this city. DYE STUFFS Madder, Indigo, Alum, &c.
QUEENSWARE—A large and most beautiful assortment of the latest styles.
HARDWARE.—A full stock, which is offered very low.
Every thing in the shape of BOOTS AND SHOES, from a Stogie Boot to a Baby's Shoe—including Misses' Gaiters, Slippers, Walking Shoes, &c., and Gents' Calf Boots, Water Proof Boots, Shoes, Bootees, &c. &c. at very reduced prices.
HATS AND CAPS in great variety—from a Broadway Bon Ton to a shilling cap.
STATIONERY.—He has also a large stock of Stationery—including School Books, Cap and Letter Paper, Envelopes &c. &c.
Also an endless variety of NOTIONS—such as Steel Beads, Clasps, and Purse Twists; Combs in great variety;—Travelling Bags; Pen and Pocket Knives, and every thing else that is neat, tasty, fashionable or desirable.
SALT & WHITE FISH by the bbl. NAILS & GLASS.
In short, buyers will find any thing and every thing they can ask for, and for CASH can have such bargains as they have never dreamt of. All kinds of PRODUCE, Deer Skins &c. taken in exchange for Goods.

Notice to Farmers and PRODUCE DEALERS.

THE undersigned having leased the well known CITY MILLS, in Fort Wayne, heretofore run by Hamilton & Williams, take this method of saying to all interested that they are prepared and ready to Flour promptly any quantity of Wheat, on the most reasonable terms.
Farmers who have Custom Work or Grists to grind will always find one or more Run of Stones in readiness for this purpose.

Notice.

THE Firm of SAMUEL HANNA & SONS was dissolved in July last. This is to give notice to all concerned, that the notes and accounts due said firm, both in this county and Noble, have been put in the hands of Mr. WM. C. TAYLOR for collection, who is authorized to receive and receipt for the same. Many persons owing have been repeatedly called on for payment, and as often neglected to pay, until I have become ashamed to ask them again; but I assure all persons indebted that unless their attention is immediately directed to the subject, they will find those claims in the hands of an officer for collection.

DR. G. C. VAUGHN'S

Vegetable Lithontriptic Mixture.

THIS celebrated remedy is constantly increasing its fame ... [illegible]
ALL OVER THE WORLD.
It has now become [illegible] and [illegible] for DROPSY:
all stages of this complaint immediately relieved, no matter of how long standing. See Pamphlet for testimony.
GRAVEL,
and all diseases of the urinary organs; for these distressing complaints it stands alone; no other article can relieve you and the cures testified to will convince the most skeptical; see pamphlet. Liver Complaint, Bilious diseases.
FEVER AND AGUE.
To the Great West especially, and wherever these complaints prevail this medicine is offered.
NO MINERAL AGENT,
no deleterious compound is a part of this mixture, it cures these diseases with certainty and celerity, and does not leave the system torpid. See Pamphlet.
PILES,
a complaint of a most painful character, is IMMEDIATELY RELIEVED,
and a cure follows by a few days use of this article: it is far before any other preparation for this disease, or for any other disease originating from impure blood. See pamphlet.
DEBILITY OF THE SYSTEM,
weak back, weakness of the Kidneys, &c., or inflammation of the same, is immediately relieved by a few days use of this medicine, and a cure is always the result of its use. It stands as
A CERTAIN REMEDY
for such complaints, and also for derangements of the female frame
IRREGULARITIES, SUPPRESSIONS
painful menstruations. No article has ever been offered except this which would touch this kind of derangements. It may be relied upon as a sure and effective remedy, and did we feel permitted to do so could give
A THOUSAND NAMES
as proof of cures in this distressing class of complaints. See pamphlet. All broken down, debilitated constitutions from the effect of mercury, will find the bracing power of this article to act immediately, and the poisonous mineral eradicated from the system.
ERUPTIVE DISEASES
will find the alterative properties of this article
PURIFY THE BLOOD,
and drive such diseases from the system. See pamphlet for testimony of cures in all diseases, which the limits of an advertisement will not permit to be named here. Agents give them away; they contain 32 pages of certificates of high character, and a stronger
ARRAY OF PROOF
of the virtues of a medicine, never appeared. It is one of the peculiar features of this article that it never fails to benefit in any case, and if bone and muscle are left to build upon, let the emaciated and lingering invalid
HOPE ON,
and keep taking the medicine as long as there is an improvement. The proprietor would
CAUTION THE PUBLIC
against a number of articles which come out under the head of SARSAPARILLAS, SYRUPS, &C., as cures for Dropsy, Gravel, &c. They are good for nothing, and concocted to gull the unwary:
TOUCH THEM NOT.
Their inventors never thought of curing such diseases till this article had done it. A particular study of the pamphlet is earnestly solicited.
Agents and all who sell the article are
GLAD TO CIRCULATE
gratuitously. Put up in 30 oz. bottles, at $2; 12 oz. do at $1 each—the larger holding 6 oz. more than two small bottles. Look out and not get imposed on. Every bottle has "Vaughn's Vegetable Lithontriptic Mixture," blown upon the glass, the written signature of "G. C. Vaughn" on the directions, and "G. C. Vaughn, Buffalo," stamped on the cork. None other are genuine. Prepared by Dr. G. C. Vaughn, and sold at the Principal Office, 207 Main street, Buffalo, at wholesale and retail. No attention given to letters unless post paid—orders from regularly constituted Agents excepted; post paid letters, or verbal communications soliciting advice, promptly attended to, gratis.
Offices devoted exclusively to the sale of this article—132 Nassau street, New York city; 15 Essex street, Salem, Mass., and by the principal Druggists throughout the United States and Canada, as agents.

Cash for 20,000 Bushels OF WHEAT,

At the Empire Mills.

WE are prepared to pay Cash and the Highest Price for 20,000 bushels of good merchantable Wheat.
Farmers and Teamsters will save themselves much trouble and expense by driving directly up to the STONE MILLS and unloading; they will always get the highest price, and avoid the annoyance of being pestered by the barkers and whipper snappers from the stores, who now infest our streets and are such a pest to all who bring wheat to our market. We are not much given to boasting; but as some of our neighbors are talking of wanting 10,000 bushels of wheat, we would inform wheat raisers that we can take in 20,000; as our Mill, besides being the best, is the biggest, the highest, and the strongest in the country. We have a convenient WAGON-YARD and STABLE, for teams coming to the Mill, and a HOUSE for the Teamsters; we always furnish feed for the horses, and occasionally throw in Supper and Breakfast for their drivers. This is nothing new with us—we have always thought it our duty to do so and should not now mention it if our neighbor had not set the example.
We keep constantly on hand FLOUR OF THE BEST QUALITY and all kinds of Mill Stuff; and promptly grind every thing in the shape of Custom Work—always excepting White Oak Tan Bark, or Beef for "the Poor."
